Realistic Illustrations In Japan No 2:

Modern Asian Art John Clark,1998-01-01 A seminal publication focusing on the modern art of Japan China India Thailand and Indonesia A significant and challenging contribution to the discussion of the advent of modernism in Asia Block Printing & Book Illustration in Japan Louise Norton Brown,2024-12-06 Block Printing Book Illustration in Japan 1924 was one of the first guides to Japanese illustration and remains indispensable to this day The author travelled widely in Japan persuading Japanese collectors to open their archives to her for study and here compiles a wealth of unique research

Since Meiji J. Thomas Rimer,2011-10-31 Research outside Japan on the history and significance of the Japanese visual arts since the beginning of the Meiji period 1868 has been with the exception of writings on modern and contemporary woodblock prints a relatively unexplored area of inquiry In recent years however the subject has begun to attract wide interest As is evident from this volume this period of roughly a century and a half produced an outpouring of art created in a bewildering number of genres and spanning a wide range of aims and accomplishments Since Meiji is the first sustained effort in English to discuss in any depth a time when Japan eager to join in the larger cultural developments in Europe and the U S went through a visual revolution Indeed this study of the visual arts of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries suggests a fresh history of modern Japanese culture one that until now has not been widely visible or thoroughly analyzed outside that country In this extensive collection which includes some 190 black and white and color reproductions scholars from Japan Europe Australia and America explore an impressive array of subjects painting sculpture prints fashion design crafts and gardens The works discussed range from early Meiji attempts to create art that referenced Western styles to postwar and contemporary avant garde experiments There are in addition substantive investigations of the cultural and intellectual background that helped stimulate the creation of new and shifting art forms including essays on the invention of a modern artistic vocabulary in the Japanese language and the history of art criticism in Japan as well as an extensive account of the career and significance of perhaps the best known Japanese figure concerned with the visual arts of his period Okakura Tenshin 1862 1913 whose Book of Tea is still widely read today Taken together the essays in this volume allow readers to connect ideas and images thus bringing to light larger trends in the Japanese visual arts that have made possible the vitality range and striking achievements created during this turbulent and lively period Contributors Stephen Addiss Chiaki Ajioka John Clark Ellen Conant Mikiko Hirayama Michael Marra Jonathan Reynolds J Thomas Rimer Audrey Yoshiko Seo Eric C Shiner Lawrence Smith Shuji Tanaka Reiko Tomii Mayu Tsuruya Toshio Watanabe Gennifer Weisenfeld Bert Winther Tamaki Emiko Yamanashi A History of Japanese Colour-prints Woldemar von Seidlitz,1920 Inexorable Modernity Hiroshi Nara,2007-02-16 Beginning in late Edo the Japanese faced a rapidly and irreversibly changing world in which industrialization westernization and internationalization was exerting pressure upon an entrenched traditional culture The Japanese themselves felt threatened by Western powers with their sense of superiority and military might Yet the Japanese were more prepared to meet this challenge than was thought at the time and they used a variety of strategies to address the tension between modernity and tradition Inexorable Modernity illuminates our understanding of how Japan has dealt with modernity and of what mechanisms universal and local we can attribute to the mode of negotiation between tradition and modernity in three major forms of art theater the visual arts and literature Dr Hiroshi Nara brings together a thoughtful collection of essays that demonstrate that traditional and modern approaches to life feed off of one other and tradition whether real or created was sought out in order to find a way to live with the burden of modernity Inexorable Modernity is a valuable and enlightening read for those interested in Asian studies and history Creatures Real and Imaginary in Chinese and Japanese Art Walther G. von Krenner, Ken Jeremiah, 2016-05-01 This guide to identifying lions unicorns and other creatures real and fanciful in Chinese and Japanese artwork explains how these and other animal depictions were introduced to the East and how their portrayals changed over time Tracing the lion's early use in Mesopotamian art and its cultural symbolism in Greece and Rome this study includes stylized foxes tigers badgers and cats as well as fanciful creatures like dragons humanoid birds water imps demons and other chimerical beasts Stories and descriptions are provided along with numerous photographs and drawings making this work an invaluable resource for art collectors and anyone interested in East Asian culture and history Graphic History Richard Iadonisi, 2012-11-30 When it comes to recounting history issues arise as to whose stories are told and how reliable is the telling This collection of fourteen essays explores the unique ways in which graphic novels can aid us in addressing those issues while shedding new light on a variety of texts including those by canonical North American and European writers Art Spiegelman Maus In the Shadow of No Towers Alan Moore From Hell The League of Extraordinary Gentlemen Frank Miller The Dark Knight Returns Chris Ware Jimmy Corrigan Chester Brown Louis Riel and Harvey Pekar Recognizing the global appeal of graphic novels this collection also provides a fresh look at history seen through the eyes of canonical non Western writers Marjane Satrapi Persepolis and Yoshihiro Tatsumi A Drifting Life and the highly vexed relationship of the West and the Middle East The array of contributors from the fields of art literature history and cultural studies is matched by the array of theoretical perspectives and by the depth and breadth of subjects ranging from the sixteenth century voyages of Sebastian Cabot to Jack the Ripper from the Chicago World's Columbian Exposition of 1893 to lynching in the early twentieth century American South and from post war Japan to the fall of the Shah in Iran Envisioning the Empress: The Lives and Images of Japanese Imperial Women, 1868-1952 Alison J. Miller, 2024-12-02 Envisioning the Empress illuminates dynamic and powerful empresses who impacted not only women in their own time but whose influence extended to later generations of royalty creating a greater role for imperial women and elevating the status of women's roles at a crucial juncture in Japanese history The central focus of this book is visual monarchy exploring how the empress biographies were primarily expressed in visual culture and how their images worked in support of Japan's imperial policies in the late nineteenth and early twentieth centuries The book begins with a brief overview of premodern and modern imperial women to orient the reader. In each chapter different media audiences and distribution channels for constructing the narrative of feminine imperial power in Japan are addressed alongside biographical information. It is argued that the ultimate purpose of all of these images was to elevate the empress and promote her image as a conventional role model for modern women but one with enough celebrity cache to maintain popularity. The images of the modern empresses as distributed by the Imperial Household Agency strike a balance between propaganda and popular media: noble philanthropist and upper middle class role model, celebrity and mother of the nation. The modern empress image was crafted to be both exalted and approachable and worked to establish individual biographies while simultaneously establishing the position of the empress as timeless in the public eye.

Envisioning the Empress introduces students of royal studies as well as modern Japanese history and art history to this fascinating element of the history of monarchy and women's history more broadly.

Art, Politics, and Commerce in Chinese Cinema Ying Zhu, Stanley Rosen, 2010-06-01

Ying Zhu and Stanley Rosen have brought together some of the leading scholars and critics of Chinese cinema to rethink the political mutations, market manifestations and artistic innovations that have punctuated a century of Chinese screen memories. From animation to documentary, history of the industry to cinematic attempts to recreate history, propaganda to piracy, the influx of Hollywood imports to Chinese style blockbusters, Art, Politics, and Commerce in Chinese Cinema presents a fresh set of critical approaches to the field that should be required reading for scholars, students and anyone interested in the past, present and future of one of the most vibrant and dynamic film industries in the world.

Michael Berry, author of Jia Zhangke's Hometown Trilogy and A History of Pain: An excellent collection of articles that together offer a superb introduction to contemporary Chinese film studies.

Richard Pena, Program Director, Film Society of Lincoln Center: This is one of the most important, comprehensive and profoundly important books about Chinese cinema. As correctly pointed out by the editors of the volume, understanding of the emerging film industry in China requires a systematic examination of arts, politics and commerce of Chinese cinema. By organizing the inquiry of the Chinese film industry around its local and global market, politics and film art, the authors place the current transformation of Chinese cinema within a large framework. The book has set a new standard for research on Chinese cinema. It is a must-read for students of arts, culture and politics in China.

Tianjian Shi, Duke University: Art, politics and commerce are intertwined everywhere, but in China the interplay is explicit, intimate and elemental, and nowhere more so than in the film industry. Understanding this interplay in the era of market reform and globalization is essential to understanding mainland Chinese cinema. This interdisciplinary book provides a comprehensive reappraisal of Chinese cinema, surveying the evolution of film production and consumption in mainland China as a product of shifting relations between art, politics and commerce. Within these arenas, each of the twelve chapters treats a particular history, development, genre, filmmaker or generation of filmmakers, adding up to a distinctively comprehensive rendering of Chinese cinema. The book illuminates China's changing state-society relations, the trajectory of marketization and globalization the effects of China's start historical shifts Hollywood's role the role of nationalism and related themes of interest to scholars of Asian studies cinema and media studies political science sociology comparative literature and Chinese language Ying Zhu is professor of cinema studies in the Department of Media Culture and co coordinator of the Modern China Studies Program at the City University of New York College of Staten Island Stanley Rosen is director of the East Asian Studies Center and a professor of political science at the University of Southern California
