Realistic Imagination:

Imaginative Realism James Gurney, 2009-10-20 A examination of time tested methods used by artists since the Renaissance to make realistic pictures of imagined things The Realistic Imagination George Levine, 1981 In The Realistic Imagination George Levine argues that the Victorian realists and the later modernists were in fact doing similar things in their fiction they were trying to use language to get beyond language Levine sees the history of the nineteenth and early twentieth century novel as a continuing process in which each generation of writers struggled to escape the grip of convention and attempted to create new language to express their particular sense of reality As these attempts hardened into new conventions they generated new attempts to break free The Realistic Imagination George L. Levine, Fictional Realities J. J. A. Mooij, 1993 This book is a study of the role of the imagination It focuses on the imaginative use of language in literature poetry and narrative prose but it also touches on some more comprehensive issues for the questions it discusses are questions regarding the relationship between mind reality and unreality The first two chapters survey the thinking about the imagination in the history of philosophy The main trends and the main problems are discussed particularly in respect of the positive or negative evaluation of imagination The subsequent chapters investigate the role of the imagination from a closer point of view How is it that imagination appears in literary art Central topics of discussion are the nature of narrativity of fictional discourse and fictional objects of realistic fiction of symbolism and metaphor Moreover the similarities both real and imagined between literature and the other arts are explored In all chapters attention is paid to the problem of the value of art and literary imagination The last chapter addresses this issue head on In particular it attempts to define the value of literature in relation to science The Traumatic Imagination Eugene L. Arva, 2011 This work examines novels from Caribbean North American and European literatures of the second half of the twentieth century both Anglophone and in translation with focus on the chronotopes of slavery colonialism the Holocaust and war Historical traumata have found their reconstruction in literary works written by either traumatized or vicariously traumatized authors such as Jean Rhys Alejo Carpentier Maryse Conde Salman Rushdie Gabriel Garcia Marquez Bernard Malamud Joseph Skibell Gu nter Grass and Tim O'Brien The traumatic imagination accounts for the relative prevalence of magical realist writing in postmodernist fiction As a singular phenomenon of postmodern aporia magical realist texts write the silence imposed by trauma and convert it into history publisher Maps of the Imagination Peter Turchi, 2004 Drawing on texts as varied as poetry novels and cartoons Turchi explores how writers and cartographers use many of the same devices for plotting and executing their work Tracing the history of maps he then relates what writers do in projecting a literary work from the imagination onto the page Moral Imagination Mark Johnson, 2014-12-10 Using path breaking discoveries of cognitive science Mark Johnson argues that humans are fundamentally imaginative moral animals challenging the view that morality is simply a system of universal laws dictated by reason According to the Western moral tradition we make ethical decisions by applying universal laws to concrete situations But Johnson shows how research in cognitive science undermines this view and reveals that imagination has an essential role in ethical deliberation Expanding his innovative studies of human reason in Metaphors We Live By and The Body in the Mind Johnson provides the tools for more practical realistic and constructive moral reflection

The Liberal Imagination Lionel Trilling, 2012-07-18 The Liberal Imagination is one of the most admired and influential works of criticism of the last century a work that is not only a masterpiece of literary criticism but an important statement about politics and society Published in 1950 one of the chillier moments of the Cold War Trilling's essays examine the promise and limits of liberalism challenging the complacency of a naive liberal belief in rationality progress and the panaceas of economics and other social sciences and asserting in their stead the irreducible complexity of human motivation and the tragic inevitability of tragedy Only the imagination Trilling argues can give us access and insight into these realms and only the imagination can ground a reflective and considered rather than programmatic and dogmatic liberalism Writing with acute intelligence about classics like Huckleberry Finn and the novels of Henry James and F Scott Fitzgerald but also on such varied matters as the Kinsey Report and money in the American imagination Trilling presents a model of the critic as both part of and apart from his society a defender of the reflective life that in our ever more rationalized world seems ever more necessary and ever more remote

Failures of Imagination Michael McCaul, 2016 The sitting chairman of the Homeland Security Committee who receives daily intelligence about threats materializing against America depicts in real time the hazards that he believes are closer than we realize From cyberwarriors who can cripple the Eastern seaboard to radicalized Americans in league with Islamic jihadists to invisible biological warfare many of the most pressing dangers are the ones he feels we've heard about the least and are doing the least about Amazon.com This our Caesar Gordon W. Hope in Pastoral Care and Counseling Andrew D. Lester, 1995-04-01 In this ground breaking book pastoral counselor Andrew Lester demonstrates that pastoral theology as well as social and behavioral sciences has neglected to address effectively the predominant cause of human suffering a lack of hope a sense of futurelessness Lester not only looks at the reasons why addressing the ideas of hope and despair has been overlooked by pastoral theology and other social and behavioral sciences

He also offers a starting point for the development of addressing these important dimensions of human life. He provides clinical theories and methods for pastoral assessment of and intervention with those who despair. He also puts forth strategies for assessing the future stories of those who despair and offers a corrective to these stories through deconstruction, reframing, and reconstruction.

Underdogs Heather Love, 2021-09-17 A pathbreaking genealogy of queer theory that traces its roots to an unexpected source: sociological research on marginal communities in the era before Stonewall. The sociology of social deviants flourished in the United States at midcentury, studying the lives of outsiders such as homosexuals, Jews, disabled people, drug addicts, and political radicals. But in the following decades, many of these downcast figures would become the architects of new social movements, activists in revolt against institutions, the state, and social constraint. As queer theory gained prominence as a subfield of the humanities in the late 1980s, it seemed to inherit these radical activist impulses, challenging not only gender and sexual norms but also the nature of society itself. With Underdogs, Heather Love shows that queer theorists inherited as much from sociologists as they did from activists. Through theoretical and archival work, Love traces the connection between midcentury studies of deviance and the antinormative, antiessentialist field of queer theory. While sociologists saw deviance as an inevitable fact of social life, queer theorists embraced it as a rallying cry. A robust interdisciplinary history of the field, Underdogs stages a reencounter with the practices and communities that underwrite radical queer thought.

Nineteenth-Century Literary Realism Katherine Kearns, 1996-01-26 A challenging rethinking of traditional theories and redefinition of the genre of realism.

Make-Believe David Dickinson, 2020-01-30 I will tell you a story that will make you believe in God. No story can guarantee being able to do this. Yet novelists can tell stories that make us think about what we believe about God and why. Despite repeated predictions of the death of the novel, thousands of works of fiction are published and read in Britain each year. Although Western society is less religiously observant than it was many 21st-century novelists persist in pursuing theological, religious, and spiritual themes. Make Believe seeks to explain why. With chapters offering analyses of novels from several genres, so-called literary fiction, historical fiction, science fiction, fantasy, and dystopia, David Dickinson discusses a wide spectrum of novelists. Authors who are avowedly atheistic and authors who have a vested interest in perpetuating biblical stories are both featured. Well-known writers such as Rushdie, McEwan, McCarthy, and Martell rub shoulders with some you may be meeting for the first time. Appealing to literature students and people who simply enjoy reading, whether Christian or not, this study of God in novels invites us to open our minds and allow aspects of our culture to shape our understanding of God and to change our ways of talking about the divine.

We Believe in the Holy Spirit Henco van der Westhuizen, 2023-07-07 We Believe in the Holy Spirit is a collection of articles reflecting some of the most important ideas in pneumatology in recent years. Although the articles were not written to fit the articles of the Nicene Creed, 381, linking these articles to the articles of the creed sheds imaginative light on the development of ideas in theologies of the Spirit.

"The Eyes of Your Heart" Alison

Searle, 2009-04-01 This book develops a theory of imagining biblically that explores the contributions scripture can make to a new way of thinking about creativity reading interpretation and criticism The methodology employed in order to demonstrate this thesis consists of a theoretical exploration of current theological understandings of the imagination and their implications within the fields of literary studies The biblical texts locates the function generally defined as imagination in the heart the eyes of your heart Ephesians 1 18 This book assesses what the biblical text as a literary and religious document contributes to the concept of imagination Due to the eclectic nature of the individual books that comprise the scriptural canon the text is considered primarily in terms of its overarching metanarrative language genres and theological propositions Tracing the various trajectories the biblical text opens up and the ways in which they intersect with and modify post Romantic assumptions about the imagination reconfigures traditional definitions of this concept A Calvinistic evangelical hermeneutic is deployed to establish a theoretical concept of what it means to imagine biblically This is further substantiated by a comparative study of authors ranging from the seventeenth to the twentieth centuries John Bunyan Samuel Rutherford Jane Austen Charlotte Bronte and C S Lewis Each author s chapter incorporates a close reading of a key text which concretely examines various trajectories of imagining biblically including creativity faith morals narrative Romanticism and eschatology The conclusion returns to the biblical text and draws these elements together with a definition of the concept of imagining biblically and its implications for literary studies
