From North South transfers to a collective effort with all paying in and all benefitting From outdated post colonial institutions to representative decision making From the othering and patronising language of foreign aid to the empowering concept of Global Public Investment Ten years ago in The Trouble with Aid Jonathan Glennie highlighted the dangers of aid dependency and the importance of looking beyond aid Now he calls for a revolution in the way that we think about the role of public money to back up our ambitious global objectives In the wake of the COVID 19 crisis it is time for a new era of internationalism

Is China Buying the World? Peter Nolan, 2013-04-30 China has become the world's second biggest economy and its largest exporter It possesses the world's largest foreign exchange reserves and has 29 companies in the FT 500 list of the world's largest companies China's Rise preoccupies the global media which regularly carry articles suggesting that it is using its financial resources to buy the world Is there any truth to this idea Or is this just scaremongering by Western commentators who have little interest in a balanced presentation of China's role in the global political economy In this short book Peter Nolan one of the leading international experts on China and the global economy probes behind the media rhetoric and shows that the idea that China is buying the world is a myth Since the 1970s the global business revolution has resulted in an unprecedented degree of industrial concentration Giant firms from high income countries with leading technologies and brands have greatly increased their investments in developing countries with China at the forefront Multinational companies account for over two thirds of China's high technology output and over ninety percent of its high technology exports Global firms are deep inside the Chinese business system and are pressing China hard to be permitted to increase their presence without restraints By contrast Chinese firms have a negligible presence in the high income countries in other words we are inside them but they are not yet inside us China's 70 odd national champion firms are protected by the government through state ownership and other support measures They are in industries such as banking metals mining oil power construction transport and telecommunications which tend to make use of high technology products rather than produce these products themselves Their growth has been based on the rapidly growing home market China has been unsuccessful so far in its efforts to nurture a group of globally competitive firms with leading global technologies and brands Whether it will be successful in the future is an open question This balanced analysis replaces rhetoric with evidence and argument It provides a much needed perspective on current debates about China's growing power and it will contribute to a constructive dialogue between China and the West
