Herling, 2014-02-04 How did the Bhagavadgītā first become an object of German philosophical and philological inquiry How were its foundational concepts initially interpreted within German intellectual circles and what does this episode in the history of cross cultural encounter teach us about the status of comparative philosophy today This book addresses these questions through a careful study of the figures who read translated and interpreted the Bhagavadgītā around the turn of the nineteenth century in Germany J G Herder F Majer F Schlegel A W Schlegel W von Humboldt and G W F Hegel Methodologically the study attends to the intellectual contexts and prejudices that framed the early reception of the text But it also delves deeper by investigating the way these frameworks inflected the construction of the Bhagavadgītā and its foundational concepts through the scholarly acts of excerpting anthologization and translation Overall the project contributes to the pluralization of Western philosophy and its history while simultaneously arguing for a continued critical alertness in cross cultural comparison of philosophical and religious worldviews The Culture of Confession from Augustine to Foucault Chloe Taylor, 2010-05-26 This book is a genealogical study of confession Drawing on the work of Michel Foucault as well as the history of Western confessional writings from Ancient Greece to contemporary pop culture this book challenges the transhistorical and commonsense views of confession as an innate impulse resulting in the psychological liberation of the confessing subject On the contrary confessional desire is argued to be contingent and constraining and alternatives to confessional subjectivity are explored The Dialectical Tradition in South Africa Andrew Nash, 2009-06-16 Exploring the defence and articulation of free speech in South Africa Nash examines Dutch attempts to modernize the legacy of the Enlightenment the existentialism of a generation of Afrikaners

during the 1940s and the renewal of Afrikaans literature

Violence and Phenomenology James Dodd, 2009-06-02 This book pursues the problem of whether violence can be understood to be constitutive of its own sense or meaning as opposed to being merely instrumental The central figures considered include Clausewitz Schmitt Arendt Sartre J nger Heidegger and Patocka

The Mystical in Wittgenstein's Early Writings James R. Atkinson, 2009-03-23 The aim of this book is to consider what reasonably follows from the hypothesis that the Tractatus Logico Philosophicus can be interpreted from a mystical point of view Atkinson intends to elucidate Wittgenstein s thoughts on the mystical in his early writings as they pertain to a number of topics such as God the meaning of life reality the eternal and the solipsistic self

Sartre and the Moral Limits of War and Terrorism Jennifer Ang Mei Sze, 2010-01-31 Based on the latest debate on Jean Paul Sartre s works on ethics and politics this book examines the relevancy and importance Sartre holds for contemporary concerns the reactionary nature of terrorism the extremity of counter violence and limitations of democratization efforts in our post 9 11 era all claiming the name of freedom and liberation It presents a different version of the violent Sartre which was presented recently as militant and supportive of terrorism by critics who were concerned with the terrorist nature of his writings Sartre in this project is reconstructed as a philosopher who although gave importance to the notion of violence in his politics was actually more concerned with containing violent means within morally excusable limits He is presented as both a realist who understood the inevitability of dirty hands in political struggles and also an absolutist against terrorism he considered wars that derailed from their purported ends of freedom as morally condemnable Arguing for the need for moral limitations to all violent struggles and the need for seeing others as ends for themselves this project outlines an existential response needed to help us reaffirm our moral compass through the invention of existential humanist ethics
