Theatrical Worlds (Beta Version) Charles Mitchell, 2014 From the University of Florida College of Fine Arts Charlie Mitchell and distinguished colleagues from across America present an introductory text for theatre and theoretical production This book seeks to give insight into the people and processes that create theater It does not strip away the feeling of magic but to add wonder for the artistry that make a production work well Open Textbook Library

Realisms in Contemporary Culture Dorothee Birke, Stella Butter, 2013-08-01 Realism is a pervasive term in discussions of contemporary developments in the cultural sphere By drawing on different theories of realism the authors explore how the term may be used as a helpful concept in order to analyse and evaluate current trends in cultural production and in turn how cultural production changes our understanding of what counts as realism The contributions deal with realism in narrative fiction drama and audiovisual media film television news within the context of national traditions examples drawn on in the case studies range from Africa Britain Germany Iceland Russia Turkey to the United States While the authors take their cues from media specific realisms focusing especially on narrative fiction the volume also highlights continuities and intersections between notions of realism in different genres and media With its original essays this collection invigorates the transdisciplinary engagement with forms and socio political functions of realism in contemporary culture

Theaters Andrew Craig Morrison, 2006 The latest title in the Norton Library of Congress Visual Sourcebooks series Theaters offers a richly illustrated history of a revered cultural artifact and a technological challenge following its progression from the eighteenth century opera house to the modern movie multiplex This visual sourcebook traces the development of its colorful and varied forms as they developed in early America on the western frontier and in cities from coast to coast The first comprehensive study of American theaters it illustrates their wide range from raucous music halls to vaudeville from circus to grand opera from World's Fair to Coney Island from nickelodeon to glorious picture palace Also featured are theaters for burlesque theaters afloat military theaters Shakespearean theaters summer theaters theaters and African Americans and arenas when a stage just won't do enlivened by a cast of entrepreneurs and showmen who were the movers and shakers of our theatrical heritage CD ROM included screen resolution scans in easy to use TIFF format for Mac and PC Illusions of Reality Gabriel P. Weisberg, 2010 Capturing realistic images on canvas has been a staple aspiration of western art since the Renaissance development of scientific perspective At the end of the nineteenth century however animated by the invention of photography and cinema artists began attempting not only to paint realistically but also to create images that projected the ethical content of the world around them Illusions of Reality Naturalist Painting Photography and Cinema 1875 1918 traces the development of Naturalism within painting literature theater photography and film and the relationship among these art forms paying attention to the way painters such as Jules Adler Thomas Anshutz Jules Bastien Lepage Emile Claus Thomas Eakins Christian Krohg Gari Melchers Jules Alexis Muenier Fernand Pelez Jean Andr   Rixens and Anders Zorn filmmakers such as Andr   Antoine Albert Capellani and L   on Lhermitte and photographers such as Peter Henry Emerson used Naturalism as a vehicle for understanding the lives of ordinary people at a time of great social transformation Practitioners of Naturalism frequently concerned themselves with the social ills created by industrialization as well as the social responses to these problems in both public education and religion Likewise the transformation brought about by industrialization led many artists to focus on the loss of traditional agrarian culture as well as the political upheaval caused by working conditions in the factories Technological advances in art from the development of photography in the first half of the nineteenth century to the emergence of film toward the end of the century contributed to the interaction among art forms and the attention toward social conditions Edited by Gabriel P Weisberg Professor of Art History at the University of Minnesota with essays by Weisberg David Jackson Willa Silverman and Maartje de Haan Illusions of Reality offers a fresh interpretation of how Naturalist artists and the aesthetic they espoused attempted to understand and explain the rapid and profound changes of their time Today We're Alive Linden Wilkinson, 2016-04-26 By 1888 after 100 years of colonisation it is estimated that 95% of the Australian Aboriginal and Torres Strait islander population had disappeared Along with starvation disease dispossession and grief a further contributing factor to this decline was murder Massacres occurred sequentially as the line of first contact forged its way across a country that had been occupied cared for and loved for over 50 000 years by about 250 separate Aboriginal nations The concomitant brutality subsumed in the colonial narrative of zeal purpose and prosperity meant that massacres were shrouded in silence for generations denied ignored and under reported However one particular massacre remains an anomaly The massacre at Myall Creek occurred on June 10th 1838 in the fading light of a wintry Sunday afternoon It was perpetrated by eleven convicts under the leadership of one free born squatter's son they had hunted blacks together before They tethered twenty eight old men women and children Weraera people of the Kamilaroi nation led them away from their camp and then systematically butchered them all These details are available because this particular massacre went to trial One hundred and sixty two years later a group of Aboriginal and non Aboriginal people formed a committee and built a memorial to commemorate the only massacre in Australia's colonial history where some but not all of the perpetrators were punished Today We're Alive Generating Performance in a Cross Cultural Context an Australian Experience is a doctoral thesis which examines the multiple narratives embedded in colonial and recent history At the heart of this research is a verbatim play the interweaving of Aboriginal and non Aboriginal testimonies about Myall Creek and the memorial testimonies sourced from descendants of massacre survivors descendants of massacre perpetrators and involved others As a thesis it explores the possibilities offered by performance ethnography as a decolonizing methodology as a play the research seeks to find a reconciliation narrative a story that through performance addresses the past and recognises the possibilities of a shared future

Extended Reality Shakespeare Aneta Mancewicz, 2024-03-31 This Element argues for the importance of extended reality as an innovative force that changes our understanding of theatre and Shakespeare It shows how the inclusion of augmented and virtual realities in performance can reconfigure the senses of the experiencers enabling them to engage with technology actively Virtual Reality Narratives Kath Dooley, 2024-08-28 This monograph delves into recent evolutions in virtual reality VR storytelling focusing on entertainment based works created or launched since 2020 Through various case studies it showcases the increasing diversity and sophistication of recent narrative based projects Moving past the initial hype associated with the latest wave of VR a number of innovative and affective works combining documentary based or fictional storytelling with game mechanics live theatre and other elements have appeared at festivals or on distribution platforms in recent years These interdisciplinary works have much to tell us about the future of VR storytelling but have yet to receive sustained analysis This book aims to correct that Dooley argues that VR as an interactive medium that places the user inside a storyworld in a visible or invisible virtual body offers narratives that incorporate the user's body as a storytelling tool This fosters user centred stories that unfold in three dimensional space Adopting phenomenological and formal analysis methodologies the monograph examines case studies through their approaches to narrative style and interactive devices Key concepts that are explored include agency direct address environmental and spatial storytelling embodiment and presence By providing a much needed analysis of works through a variety of theoretical lenses the book illustrates how recent VR storytelling fosters powerfully transformative experiences

The Theatricalists Theron Schmidt, 2024-09-15 Examines how the politics of the theater can illuminate the theatricality of politics Theatricality is often dismissed as a distraction from real politics as when cynical political gestures are derided as pure theater or only theater But the artists and theater companies discussed in this book including Back to Back Theatre Tim Crouch Rabih Mroue Nature Theater of Oklahoma and Christoph Schlingensiefel take a different approach Theron Schmidt argues that they represent a theatricalist turn that explores and tests the conditions of the theater itself Across diverse contexts of political engagement ranging from disability rights to representations of violence these theatrical conditions are interconnected with political struggles such as those over who is seen and heard how labor is valued and what counts as political in the first place In a so called post political era The Theatricalists argues that an examination of theater s internal politics can expand our understanding of the theatricality of politics more broadly

Drama Education in the Lives of Girls Kathleen Gallagher,2001-01-01 Through drama girls can explore their particular sexual cultural ethnic and class based identities Gallagher s research offers pedagogical alternatives in an increasingly mechanistic and disempowering period in education Theatre of the Real C. Martin,2012-10-23 This book proposes a new way to consider theatre and performance that claims a special relationship to reality truth and authenticity It documents innovations in devising and staging theatre and performance that takes reality as its subject cultural shifts that have generated theatre of the real some of its problems and some possibilities
