

The background of the image is a dark, textured surface. It is covered with numerous small, light purple hydrangea flowers. In the bottom right corner, there is a white, swirling, spiral-like pattern that resembles a stylized flower or a decorative element. A white rectangular box with a thin black border is centered in the upper half of the image, containing the text.

Included are a brief introduction and history of the continent, an explanation of the role of visual expression in Africa, descriptions of the form and function of the works, lesson plans, class activities, map, bibliography, and glossary. Partnership for the Americas: Western Hemisphere Strategy and U.S. Southern Command James G. Stavridis, Radm James G. Stavridis, 2014-02-23 Since its creation in 1963, United States Southern Command has been led by 30 senior officers representing all four of the armed forces. None has undertaken his leadership responsibilities with the cultural sensitivity and creativity demonstrated by Admiral Jim Stavridis during his tenure in command. Breaking with tradition, Admiral Stavridis discarded the customary military model as he organized the Southern Command Headquarters. In its place, he created an organization designed not to subdue adversaries but instead to build durable and enduring partnerships with friends. His observation that it is the business of Southern Command to launch ideas, not missiles, into the command's area of responsibility gained strategic resonance throughout the Caribbean and Central and South America and at the highest levels in Washington, DC. Picuris Pueblo Through Time Michael A. Adler, Herbert W. Dick, 1999 This book discusses changes through the centuries at Picuris Pueblo. San Lorenzo Picuris Pueblo, one of the oldest continually occupied settlements in North America, is a northern Tiwa-speaking community located 15 air miles south of Taos, New Mexico. Networked Publics Kazys Varnelis, 2012-08-17 How maturing digital media and network technologies are transforming place, culture, politics, and infrastructure in our everyday life. Digital media and network technologies are now part of everyday life. The Internet has become the backbone of communication, commerce, and media; the ubiquitous mobile phone connects us with others as it removes us from any stable sense of location. Networked Publics examines the ways that the social and cultural shifts created by these technologies have transformed our relationships to and definitions of place, culture, politics, and infrastructure. Four chapters, each by an interdisciplinary team of scholars using collaborative software, provide a synoptic overview along with illustrative case studies. The chapter on place describes how digital networks enable us to be present in physical and networked places simultaneously, often at the expense of nondigital commitments. The chapter on culture explores the growth and impact of amateur-produced and remixed content online. The chapter on politics examines the new networked modes of bottom-up political expression and mobilization. And finally, the chapter on infrastructure notes the tension between openness and control in the flow of information as seen in the current controversy.

over net neutrality The New Century Standard Letter-writer Alfred B. Chambers,1900 Teaching Civic Engagement Globally Elizabeth Matto,Alison McCartney,Elizabeth Bennion,2021-09 A thriving and peaceful democracy requires an informed and engaged citizenry but such citizenship must be learned Educators around the globe are facing challenges in teaching politics in an era in which populist values are on the rise authoritarian governance is legitimized and core democratic tenets are regularly undermined by leaders and citizens alike To combat anti democratic outcomes and citizens apathy Teaching Civic Engagement Globally provides a wide range of pedagogical tools to help the current generation learn to effectively navigate debates and lead changes in local national and global politics Contributors discuss key theoretical discussions and challenges regarding global civic engagement education highlight successful evidence based pedagogical approaches and review effective ways to reach across disciplines and the global education community Most importantly the book provides tangible steps to link democratic education research with action that reflects contemporary global circumstances Social Content Marketing for Entrepreneurs James M. Barry,2014-12-30 This book will provide a practical overview of how digital content social media and search engine optimization work together in driving website traffic and sales leads The goal is to educate readers on the new mindset and social tech nologies required to drive this traffic in a timely and non intrusive way Readers will benefit from a comprehensive but succinct overview of how social networking search friendly blogging trustworthy content contextually targeted online campaigns and mobile marketing techniques are transforming companies that embrace inbound marketing Unlike books that cover social media one platform or technology at a time Social Content Marketing for Entrepreneurs is organized for readers to master elements of strategy in the order of their implementation In so doing it will help order the steps of professionals in the midst of launching new digital marketing initiatives as well as students tasked with completing social media marketing plans The Man Who Loved Only Numbers Paul Hoffman,2024-05-07 A funny marvelously readable portrait of one of the most brilliant and eccentric men in history The Seattle Times Paul Erdos was an amazing and prolific mathematician whose life as a world wandering numerical nomad was legendary He published almost 1500 scholarly papers before his death in 1996 and he probably thought more about math problems than anyone in history Like a traveling salesman offering his thoughts as wares Erdos would show up on the doorstep of one mathematician or another and announce My brain is open After working through a problem he d move on to the next place the next solution Hoffman s book like Sylvia Nasar s biography of John Nash A Beautiful Mind reveals a genius s life that transcended the merely quirky But Erdos s brand of madness was joyful unlike Nash s despairing schizophrenia Erdos never tried to dilute his obsessive passion for numbers with ordinary emotional interactions thus avoiding hurting the people around him as Nash did Oliver Sacks writes of Erdos A mathematical genius of the first order Paul Erdos was totally obsessed with his subject he thought and wrote mathematics for nineteen hours a day until the day he died He traveled constantly living out of a plastic bag and had no interest in food sex companionship art all that is usually indispensable to a human life The Man Who Loved Only Numbers is easy to love despite his strangeness It's hard not to have affection for someone who referred to children as epsilons from the Greek letter used to represent small quantities in mathematics a man whose epitaph for himself read Finally I am becoming stupider no more and whose only really necessary tool to do his work was a quiet and open mind Hoffman who followed and spoke with Erdos over the last 10 years of his life introduces us to an undeniably odd yet pure and joyful man who loved numbers more than he loved God whom he referred to as SF for Supreme Fascist He was often misunderstood and he certainly annoyed people sometimes but Paul Erdos is no doubt missed Therese Littleton

Teaching Civic Engagement Alison Rios Millett McCartney, Elizabeth A. Bennion, Dick W. Simpson, 2013 Teaching Civic Engagement provides an exploration of key theoretical discussions innovative ideas and best practices in educating citizens in the 21st century The book addresses theoretical debates over the place of civic engagement education in Political Science It offers pedagogical examples in several sub fields including evidence of their effectiveness and models of appropriate assessment Written by political scientists from a range of institutions and subfields Teaching Civic Engagement makes the case that civic and political engagement should be a central part of our mission as a discipline

Making Healthy Places Andrew L. Dannenberg, Howard Frumkin, Richard J. Jackson, 2012-09-18 The environment that we construct affects both humans and our natural world in myriad ways There is a pressing need to create healthy places and to reduce the health threats inherent in places already built However there has been little awareness of the adverse effects of what we have constructed or the positive benefits of well designed built environments This book provides a far reaching follow up to the pathbreaking Urban Sprawl and Public Health published in 2004 That book sparked a range of inquiries into the connections between constructed environments particularly cities and suburbs and the health of residents especially humans Since then numerous studies have extended and refined the book's research and reporting Making Healthy Places offers a fresh and comprehensive look at this vital subject today There is no other book with the depth breadth vision and accessibility that this book offers In addition to being of particular interest to undergraduate and graduate students in public health and urban planning it will be essential reading for public health officials planners architects landscape architects environmentalists and all those who care about the design of their communities Like a well trained doctor Making Healthy Places presents a diagnosis of and offers treatment for problems related to the built environment Drawing on the latest scientific evidence with contributions from experts in a range of fields it imparts a wealth of practical information with an emphasis on demonstrated and promising solutions to commonly occurring problems
