Silences Tillie Olsen, 1978 In Silences Tillie Olsen confronts the crucial relationship between circumstances class color sex the times and climate into which one is born and the creation of written literature These essays explore the problems of literary silences in the careers of both the acknowledged great and those who ceased to write Tillie Olsen focuses on the silences that are most immediate to her own experience how a negative literary climate childbearing and rearing shape a woman s writing life Cover Kindred Hands Jennifer Cognard-Black, Elizabeth MacLeod Walls, 2006-03-15 Publisher description

Shadows of the Future Patrick Parrinder, 1995-09-01 H G Wells the inventor of the concept of the time machine and the phrase the Shape of Things to Come described his life s work as one of critical anticipation Shadows of the Future identifies the attempt to imagine possible futures as the unifying principle behind Wells s diverse and sometimes wayward literary career The book unravels the complex layers of meaning in The Time Machine and shows how throughout his life he sought to exploit the potential of literary and cultural prophecy in new ways Described by John Middleton Murry as the last prophet of bourgeois Europe he was also its first futurologist In Shadows of the Future Wells s assumption of the prophet s role is related to his championship of the modern scientific outlook and to the theory and practice of science fiction and utopian literature Parrinder explores the connections between novelty and repetition between imagining the future and imagining the past and between prophecy and parody as literary modes Wells s science fiction is reexamined both as a projection of the cosmology implicit in the writings of Darwin and Huxley and as a new variation on the Romantic and Enlightenment themes of such earlier authors as Blake Gibbon and Mary Shelley Later chapters relate Wells s fiction to his nonfiction and look at the uneasy relationship of his utopianism to literary prophecy and at the paradoxes inherent in the militant internationalism of the prophet at large Finally Wells s influence is traced in a study of the antiutopian fictions of Zamyatin and Orwell and in a broad account of the connections between science fiction and the scientific outlook down to our own time Ecosublime Lee Rozelle,2023-04-11

Explores 19th century modern postmodern and millennial texts as they portray the changing ecological face of America Lee Rozelle probes the metaphor of environmental catastrophe in American literature of the last 150 years In each instance Rozelle finds evidence that the ecosublime nature experienced as an instance of wonder and fear profoundly reflects spiritual and political responses to the natural world America s increasingly anti ecological trajectory and the ascendance of a post natural landscape In the 19th century Rozelle argues Isabella Bird and Edgar Allan Poe represented the western wilderness as culturally constructed and idealized landscapes Gardens forests and frontiers are conceptual frameworks that either misrepresent or uphold ecological space Modernists like Nathanael West and William Carlos Williams on the other hand portray urban space as either wastelands or mythical urban gardens A chapter on Charles W Chesnutt and Rebecca Harding Davis analyzes a new breed of literary eco advocate educating and shocking mainstream readers through depictions of ecological disaster A later chapter probes the writings of Edward Abbey and the Unabomber Manifesto to delve into the sublime dimensions of environmental activism monkey wrenching and eco terrorism Rebecca Harding Davis's Stories of the Civil War Era Rebecca Harding Davis,2010 The ten stories gathered here show Rebecca Harding Davis to be an acute observer of the conflicts and ambiguities of a divided nation and position her as a major transitional writer between romanticism and realism Instead of focusing on major Civil War conflicts and leaders she takes readers into the intimate battles fought on family farms and backwoods roads Reading for Realism Nancy Glazener,1997 Reading for Realism presents a new approach to U S literary history that is based on the analysis of dominant reading practices rather than on the production of texts Nancy Glazener s focus is the realist novel the most influential literary form of the nineteenth and twentieth centuries a form she contends was only made possible by changes in the expectations of readers about pleasure and literary value By tracing readers collaboration in the production of literary forms Reading for Realism turns nineteenth century controversies about the realist romance and sentimental novels into episodes in the history of readership It also shows how works of fiction by Rebecca Harding Davis Henry James Nathaniel Hawthorne and others participated in the debates about literary classification and reading that in turn created and shaped their audiences Combining reception theory with a materialist analysis of the social formations in which realist reading practices circulated Glazener s study reveals the elitist underpinnings of literary realism At the book s center is the Atlantic group of magazines whose influence was part of the cultural machinery of the Northeastern urban bourgeoisie and crucial to the development of literary realism in America Glazener shows how the promotion of realism by this group of publications also meant a consolidation of privilege primarily in terms of class gender race and region for the audience it served Thus American realism so often portrayed as a

quintessentially populist form actually served to enforce existing structures of class and power The Logic of Slavery Tim Armstrong, 2012-08-27 In American history and throughout the Western world the subjugation perpetuated by slavery has created a unique culture of slavery That culture exists as a metaphorical artistic and literary tradition attached to the enslaved human beings whose lives are owed to another who are used as instruments by another and who must endure suffering in silence Tim Armstrong explores the metaphorical legacy of slavery in American culture by investigating debt technology and pain in African American literature and a range of other writings and artworks Armstrong s careful analysis reveals how notions of the slave as a debtor lie hidden in our accounts of the commodified self and how writers like Nathaniel Hawthorne Rebecca Harding Davis Booker T Washington W E B Du Bois Ralph Ellison and Toni Morrison grapple with the pervasive view that slaves are akin to machines
