Handbook of Research on the Conservation and Restoration of Tropical Dry Forests Bhadouria, Rahul,Tripathi, Sachchidanand,Srivastava, Pratap,Singh, Pardeep,2019-09-27 Tropical dry forests are the most exploited and endangered ecosystems in the world A combination of climatic and human factors often reduce these forests to patches of dry scrubs or savannas Because these ecosystems experience a more arduous and less anticipated environment they are more prone to environmental stress as plant communities are developed Therefore urgent research is necessary to understand both the detrimental issues and problem solving approaches to conserving these important forests The Handbook of Research on the Conservation and Restoration of Tropical Dry Forests is a pivotal reference source that combines theory and practice on the current trends and issues in this important ecological subject and discusses future challenges towards conservation strategies of these tropical dry forests While highlighting topics such as forest management natural regeneration and silviculture this publication examines the anthropogenic impacts on tropical dry forests and the necessity to rebuild their ecosystems This book is ideally designed for state forest agency professionals resource managers non governmental organization agents ecologists botanists environmentalists students and researchers seeking current research on the threats to these forests

The Sunflower Forest William R. Jordan,2012-02-07 Ecological restoration the attempt to guide damaged ecosystems back to a previous usually healthier or more natural condition is rapidly gaining recognition as one of the most promising approaches to conservation In this book William R Jordan III who coined the term restoration ecology and who is widely respected as an intellectual leader in the field outlines a vision for a restoration based environmentalism that has emerged from his work over twenty five years Drawing on a provocative range of thinkers from anthropologists Victor Turner Roy Rappaport and Mary Douglas to literary critics Frederick Turner Leo Marx and R W B Lewis Jordan explores the promise of restoration both as a way of reversing environmental damage and as a context for negotiating our relationship with nature Exploring restoration not only as a technology but also as an experience and a performing art Jordan claims that it is the indispensable key to conservation At the same time he argues restoration is valuable because it provides a context for confronting the most troubling aspects of our relationship with nature For this reason it offers a way past the essentially sentimental idea of nature that environmental thinkers have taken for granted since the time of Emerson and Muir

Forest Landscape Restoration John Stanturf,David Lamb,Palle Madsen,2014-12-14 Restoration ecology as a scientific discipline developed from practitioners efforts to restore degraded land with interest also coming from applied ecologists attracted by the potential for restoration projects to apply and or test developing theories on ecosystem development Since then forest landscape restoration FLR has emerged as a practical approach to forest restoration particularly in developing countries where an approach which is both large scale and focuses on meeting human needs is required Yet despite increased investigation into both the biological and social aspects of FLR there has so far been little success in systematically integrating these two complementary strands Bringing experts in landscape studies natural resource management and forest restoration together with those experienced in conflict management environmental economics and urban studies this book bridges that gap to define the nature and potential of FLR as a truly multidisciplinary approach to a global environmental problem The book will provide a valuable reference to graduate students and researchers interested in ecological restoration forest ecology and management as well as to professionals in environmental restoration natural resource management conservation and environmental policy

Rehabilitation and Restoration of Degraded Forests Dr. David Lamb, Donald Allan Gilmour, 2003-01-01 Large areas of the world's forests have been lost or degraded and landscapes everywhere are being simplified by current land use practices In this publication Lamb and Gilmour present approaches to restoring and rehabilitating the vast areas of degraded fragmented and modified forests which cover much of the world They argue that by applying best practice at the site level it is possible to enhance socio economic and ecological gains at the landscape level This book provides an important contribution towards the objectives of the Forest Landscape Restoration approach and is essential reading for practitioners and decision makers involved in forest restoration

Restoring the Pacific Northwest Dean Apostol, Marcia Sinclair, 2012-09-26 The Pacific Northwest is a global ecological hotspot because of its relatively healthy native ecosystems a high degree of biodiversity and the number and scope of restoration initiatives that have been undertaken there Restoring the Pacific Northwest gathers and presents the best examples of state of the art restoration techniques and projects It is an encyclopedic overview that will be an invaluable reference not just for restorationists and students working in the Pacific Northwest but for practitioners across North America and around the world alternatives to our current practices As a minister and theologian he also allows for the work of the Spirit to bring about more just and sustainable ways of living Practicing Reverence represents both a call and a challenge to those who genuinely desire the best for themselves and future generations to join their efforts for the good of all The Everything Kids'
