Pinchera, 2012-12-06 In 1956 three groups independently reported evidence that some thyroid disease appearing spontaneously in humans or experimentally induced in animals are related to autoimmune processes The interval between these landmark discoveries and the present has witnessed a remarkable and continuing growth of both knowledge and concepts concerning the mechanisms of immune regulation the pathogenesis of autoimmune thyroid diseases and their clinical and laboratory manifestations More importantly knowledge of thyroid autoimmunity has in many respects comprised the vanguard of an ever increasing appreciation and understanding of autoimmune diseases in general On November 24-26 1986 an International Symposium on Thyroid Autoimmunity was held in Pisa Its purpose was to commemorate the birth of thyroid autoimmunity as a scientific discipline to summarize current knowledge and concepts in this area and where possible to anticipate areas of opportunity for the future hence the theme of the Symposium Memories and Perspectives To open the meeting the Magnifico Rettore Chancellor of the University of Pisa granted special Awards to Dr Deborah Doniach Dr Ivan Roitt and Dr Noel R Rose who published the first fundamental studies in the field of thyroid autoimmunity and to Dr Duncan G Adams whose discovery of the long acting thyroid stimulator LATS opened the door to our current understanding of the pathogenesis of Graves disease During the meeting thirty plenary lectures were presented

Graves' Disease Basil Rapoport, Sandra M. McLachlan, 2012-12-06 From the perspective of the investigator Graves disease is a fascinating disorder with unique features and opportunities for study The discovery in 1956 that Graves disease was caused by a humoral factor later shown to be an antibody to the TSH receptor was a triumph for modern investigative medicine Rapid progress is now being made in i understanding the molecular interaction between autoantibodies and the TSH receptor ii identifying the genes that contribute to the predisposition to disease iii developing an animal model of Graves disease and iv identifying the long sought orbital antigen in ophthalmopathy From the clinical standpoint although Graves disease is eminently treatable there is no definitive cure None of the therapeutic options are ideal It is hoped that rapid progress in understanding the pathogenesis of the disease will lead to the ultimate goal of some form of immunotherapy that will make antithyroid drugs radioiodine and thyroidectomy obsolete The chapters in Graves Disease Pathogenesis and Treatment represent the viewpoints of many prominent clinicians and investigators working in the field The editors are grateful for their contributions which cover an unusually comprehensive compendium of subjects relating to the disease

Thyroid Eye Disease Rebecca S. Bahn, 2012-12-06 Patients afflicted with thyroid eye disease or Graves ophthalmopathy GO may experience not only pain and visual loss but also disfigurement Full understanding of pathogenesis has been elusive and treatment modalities are imperfect As with other conditions more effective intervention will follow only after a better understanding of pathogenesis is reached The goal of this volume is to give an overview by leaders in the field of the present state of the art both in pathogenesis and clinical aspects of GO Much attention has been directed towards determining which cells within the orbit are targets of the autoimmune process and how these and other cells might participate in the local inflammatory process It is now generally agreed that orbital fibroblasts preadipocyte fibroblasts and adipocytes are the targeted and activated cells in GO and that full length TSH receptor TSHr is expressed in these cells Further there is growing consensus that this receptor is up regulated in the orbit in GO residing primarily in newly differentiated adipocytes However it is also evident given a sufficiently sensitive assay that TSHr is detectable in fibroblasts and adipocytes from the normal orbit and other anatomic sites as well It will be important to determine whether the observed increase in orbital TSHr expression itself initiates the orbital autoimmune process Also to be decided is whether orbital lymphocytes from GO patients specifically recognize this receptor and what factor or factors unique to Graves disease might stimulate TSHr expression in orbital cells

Recent Advances in Understanding The Genetics of Immunological Disorders Che Kang Lim,Jinqiao Sun,Hassan Abolhassani,2024-12-13 Immunological disorders are diseases or conditions due to the dysfunction of the immune system They include primary immunodeficiency syndromes autoimmune diseases asthma allergy and autoinflammatory syndromes These disorders disrupt our body s ability to defend against pathogens In addition it may lead to exaggerated chronic inflammatory responses and tissue damage Immunological disorders are clinically and genetically heterogeneous The phenotypic spectrum of the diseases is broad in some of the disorders On the other hand the clinical phenotype derived from distinct genotypes can overlap and the same phenotype can be cross shared in different disorders

Therefore accurate diagnosis and effective management are challenging Over the last decade advances in genomics and sequencing platforms have accelerated the understanding of how candidate genes contribute to the development of immunological disorders Significant progress has been made in discovering disease causing genes for rare monogenic immunological disorders especially in immunodeficiency syndrome These findings shed insights into disease mechanisms and facilitated the identification of new biomarkers that can help in diagnosis prognosis and development of novel clinical therapeutic approaches
