Recent Middle English Scholarship and Criticism: Survey and Desiderata Jonathan Burke Severs, 1971 Middle English Literature Charles W. Dunn, Edward T. Byrnes, 2013-11-26 For the first time available in paperback this classic anthology provides readers with important literary works composed during the Middle English period 1100 1500 in England Scotland and Ireland The editors provide glosses for all unfamiliar words and obscure phrases and every selection refers to at least one definitive edition where details of recent scholarship can be found Modern punctuation and capitalization are used throughout and variant spellings are kept to a minimum to avoid unnecessary confusion The introduction discusses important literary and linguistic questions the headnotes and bibliography offer extensive guidance to secondary sources and the appendixes clarify pronunciation verb use and dialect variations

Middle English Laurel Brinton, Alexander Bergs, 2017-09-25 The volume provides a wide ranging account of Middle English organized by linguistic level Not only are the traditional areas of linguistic study explored in state of the art chapters but the volume also covers less traditional areas of study including creolization sociolinguistics literary language including the language of Chaucer pragmatics and discourse dialectology standardization language contact and multilingualism

Empire of Magic Geraldine Heng, 2003 Empire of Magic offers a genesis and genealogy for medieval romance and the King Arthur legend through the history of Europe s encounters with the East in crusades travel missionizing and empire formation It also produces definitions of race and nation for the medieval period and posits that the Middle Ages and medieval fantasies of race and religion have recently returned Drawing on feminist and gender theory as well as cultural analyses of race class and colonialism this provocative book revises our understanding of the beginnings of the nine hundred year old cultural genre we call romance as well as the King Arthur legend Geraldine Heng argues that romance arose in the twelfth century as a cultural response to the trauma and horror of taboo acts in particular the cannibalism committed by crusaders on the bodies of Muslim enemies in Syria during the First Crusade From such encounters with the East Heng suggests sprang the fantastical episodes featuring King Arthur in Geoffrey of Monmouth s chronicle The History of the Kings of England a work where history and fantasy collide and merge each into the other inventing crucial new examples and models for romances to come After locating the rise of romance and Arthurian legend in the contact zones of East and West Heng demonstrates the adaptability of romance and its key role in the genesis of an English national identity Discussing Jews women children and sexuality in works like the romance of Richard Lionheart stories of the saintly Constance Arthurian chivalric literature the legend of Prester John and travel narratives Heng shows how fantasy enabled audiences to work through issues of communal identity race color class and alternative sexualities in socially sanctioned and safe modes of cultural discussion in which pleasure not anxiety was paramount Romance also engaged with the threat of modernity in the late medieval period as economic social and technological transformations occurred and awareness grew of a vastly enlarged world beyond Europe one encompassing India China and

Africa Finally Heng posits romance locates England and Europe within an empire of magic and knowledge that surveys the world and makes it intelligible usable for the future Empire of Magic is expansive in scope spanning the eleventh to the fifteenth centuries and detailed in coverage examining various types of romance historical national popular chivalric family and travel romances among others to see how cultural fantasy responds to changing crises pressures and demands in a number of different ways Boldly controversial theoretically sophisticated and historically rooted Empire of Magic is a dramatic restaging of the role romance played in the culture of a period and world in ways that suggest how cultural fantasy still functions for us today

Ashgate Critical Essays on Early English Lexicographers Christine Franzen, 2017-03-02 Anglo Saxon lexicography studies Latin texts and words The earliest English lexicographers are largely unidentifiable students teachers scholars and missionaries Materials brought from abroad by early teachers were augmented by their teachings and passed on by their students Lexicographical material deriving from the early Canterbury school remains traceable in glossaries throughout this period but new material was constantly added Aldhelm and lfric Bata among others wrote popular much studied hermeneutic texts using rare exotic words often derived from glossaries which then contributed to other glossaries lfric of Eynsham is a rare identifiable early English lexicographer unusual in his lack of interest in hermeneutic vocabulary The focus is largely on context and the process of creation and intended use of glosses and glossaries Several articles examine intellectual centres where scholars and texts came together for example Theodore and Hadrian in Canterbury Aldhelm in Malmesbury Dunstan at Christ Church Canterbury thelwold in Winchester King thelstan s court Abingdon Glastonbury and Worcester

The Performance of Middle English Culture James J. Paxson, Lawrence M. Clopper, Sylvia Tomasch, 1998 First detailed examination of theatricality in Chaucer and in Middle English literature and culture as a whole Theatricality as a cultural process is vitally important in the middle ages it encompasses not only the thematic importation of dramatic images into the Canterbury Tales but also the social and ideological performativities of the mystery and morality plays metadramatic investments and the ludic energies of Chaucerian discourses in general The twelve essays collected here address for the first time this intersection using contemporary theory and historical scholarship to treat a number of important critical problems including the anthropology of theatrical performance gender allegory Chaucerian metapoetics intertextual play and jouissance social mediation and rhetoric genre and the institutionality of medieval studies
