T. J. C. Smart, J. J. Theology and the Problem of Evil Kenneth Surin, 2004-10-29 One of the most profound problems that theologians are called on to address is the presence of evil and suffering in the world and how this can be reconciled with the assertion of an omnipotent and morally perfect God This book begins by showing how the problem of evil has been inextricably bound up with the problematic deity created by the philosophical theism of the Enlightenment and perpetuated ever since demonstrating how contemporary theodacists have failed to perceive the historical and cultural determinants which affect their theorizing Dr Surin argues that thinking on the problem of evil consists of two fundamental perspectives He labels these the theoretical and the practical approaches and examines the work of a number of theologians who typify each Alvin Plantinga Richard Swinburne the process theologians and John Hick exemplify the theoretical approach Dorothee Soelle Jurgen Moltmann and P T Forsyth the practical He uses the views of Dostoevsky s character Ivan Karamazov and the protagonists in Elie Wiesel s writing as a paradigm for evaluating the two approaches and concludes that only the practical approach has the merit of both rooting itself in the realities of human suffering and grounding itself in the fundamental rule of what he calls an adequate grammar of salvation namely that God justifies himself by justifying sinners on the cross Finally Dr Surin explores this grammar of the notion of an incarnate salvation with particular reference to the need for a messianic and practical solidarity with those who are afflicted This thought provoking book will serve both as an introduction to those new to the ideas of theodicy and as a stimulating essay for those dissatisfied with conventional studies of theology and the problem of evil
