Ryder,M.L. Byrd,2012-12-06 There is a saying he is a person who can charm the birds from the trees This might well be applied to Kurt Benirschke Indeed it describes both his warm personality and his intimate interaction with nature He might be considered a modern adept of the Greek and Roman Stoic school of philosophy which taught an understanding of man as integrated into nature in its totality The right way to live is according to nature with nature as part of it This at the same time means humanity and Kurt Benirschke impresses us not only as an outstanding scientist but also as a humanist who has had a lifelong love affair with nature The foundation of Springer Verlag New York in 1964 offered a great opportunity for getting together with eminent authors in the United States Kurt Benirschke was one of them and his book Pathology of the Placenta was highly acclaimed all over the world My attention was first called to him by my dear friend Dr Ernst Uhlinger then a pathologist in Zurich With a sharp and critical eye he followed the international literature on pathology and discovered the genius of Kurt Benirschke Our first encounters led to a relationship of trust which in turn grew into friendship I soon learned to esteem the special qualities of the man and the scientist in fact they cannot be separated

Holt, 2019-08-30 This second edition emphasizes the environmental impact on reproduction with updated chapters throughout as well as complete new chapters on species such as sharks and rays This is a wide ranging book that will be of relevance to anyone involved in species conservation and provides critical perspectives on the real utility of current and emerging reproductive sciences Understanding reproductive biology is centrally important to the way many of the world's conservation problems should be tackled Currently the extinction problem is huge with up to 30% of the world's fauna being expected to disappear in the next 50 years Nevertheless it has been estimated that the global population of animals in zoos encompasses 12 000 15 000 species and we anticipate that every effort will be made to preserve these species for as long as possible minimizing inbreeding effects and providing the best welfare standards available Even if the reproductive biology community cannot solve the global biodiversity crisis for all wild species we should do our best to maintain important captive populations Reproductive biology in this context is much more than the development of techniques for helping with too little or too much breeding While some of the relevant techniques are useful for individual species that society might target for a variety of reasons whether nationalistic cultural or practical technical developments have to be backed up by thorough biological understanding of the background behind the problems Giant Pandas Lynn M.
