Pictorial History In B C:

Step Into Wilderness Deborah Griffiths, 2020-10-03 The spectacular landscapes in and surrounding the Comox Valley on Vancouver Island have long shaped the lives of the valley's diverse inhabitants. From expansive shorelines to snowy mountain peaks, the region contains a wide variety of attractions to lure people over their thresholds for sustenance, recreation and survival, including such landmarks as Forbidden Plateau, Paradise Meadows, Comox Glacier, Mt Washington and Miracle Beach. Step into Wilderness features never before seen photos from the Courtenay and District Museum collection showcasing the growing community's varied interactions with the wilderness they inhabit, from early hiking and skiing expeditions to encounters with wildlife, afternoon tea in the wilderness, beach races and early outdoor activity clubs. The collection also explores the ways in which inhabitants have altered the landscape, including Komoks Bay fish traps and stump blasting to clear fields. These unique and arresting photos are complemented by equally engaging accounts of individuals surviving and thriving in the midst of natural beauty and great devastation, including survivors of the Great Fire of 1922 and pioneer skiers on Forbidden Plateau during the Great Depression. More than a volume of beautiful photos, this collection illustrates a community's evolving relationship with the natural wonders surrounding it, as well as the emergence of outdoor exploration on Vancouver Island.

Songhees Pictorial Grant R. Keddie, Royal BC Museum, 2003 Songhees Pictorial presents the story of the Songhees people, the original Salish inhabitants of the southern tip of Vancouver Island, since their first contact with Europeans in 1790. It is an insightful ethno-historical account of a people and the place where they lived. When the Songhees Reserve was established in 1843 across the harbour from Fort Victoria, it became a gathering place for First Peoples throughout the region seeking trade with Europeans. This new commerce brought prosperity, conflict, disease and cultural upheaval to the Songhees and other coastal First Nations. Focusing on the old reserve, Grant Keddie presents these rapidly changing times through the eyes of outsiders, as expressed in newspaper reports and private journals, as depicted in sketches, paintings and photographs. The book features almost 200 archival images, many published here for the first time. Though these views of First Peoples in Victoria were taken through the biased lenses of non-aboriginal photographers, Grant Keddie gives them context and perspective. Songhees Pictorial offers a rich visual history of the old Songhees Reserve and its people.

Vanishing British Columbia Michael Kluckner,2011-11-01 The old buildings and historic places of British Columbia form a kind of roadside memory a tangible link with stories of settlement change and abandonment that reflect the great themes of our history With small towns declining and old rural properties changing so little of the history of these places has been recorded in museums or archives and so much of it may disappear as families disperse and memories dim More than a decade ago Michael Kluckner began painting these dots on his personal map of the province in a watercolour sketchbook In 1999 after he put a few of the sketches on his website a network of correspondents emerged that eventually led him to the family letters photo albums and memories all from a disappearing era of the province Vanishing British Columbia is a record of these places and the stories they tell It combines engaging and insightful historical commentary with over 160 of the author s original paintings It has an exceptional assortment of historic imagery including old postcards architectural plans and photographs The study of roadside memory demonstrates the visceral connection that people especially those who are part of the rural to urban diaspora of modern times have for the sites of their family memories On a grander scale this approach leads to a broader understanding of more abstract historical themes and of the province s history and culture It also presents a compelling argument for stewardship of regional history in the face of urbanization and globalization

Hobnobbing with a Countess and Other Okanagan Adventures Alice Barrett Parke,2001 In 1889 Alice Barrett moved west from Ontario to the Okanagan Valley in British Columbia to keep house for her brother and uncle She soon married Harold Parke a former military officer and recorded her experiences in a series of notebooks Few women s diaries have survived from that time and Parke recalls a period of profound transformation in a region newly opened to white settlement by the railway She was an astute observer and an exceptional writer and her diaries provide valuable insights into work health religion race and gender relations and women s lives She was part of the circle of the Countess of Aberdeen who stayed at nearby Coldstream Ranch and became the first corresponding secretary of the Vernon chapter of the National Council of Women

Schütz.-Charakterbilder aus der Englischen Geschichte, etc. 3 series Hermann SCHUETZ,1862 The British Columbia Historical Quarterly ,1958 From the West Coast to the Western Front Mark Forsythe,Greg Dickson,2014-09-27 It has often been observed that the First World War jolted Canada into nationhood and as Mark Forsythe and Greg Dickson show in this compelling book no province participated more eagerly in that transformation or felt the aftershock more harshly than British Columbia In From the West Coast to the Western Front Forsythe host of CBC Radio s mid day show BC Almanac marks the 100th anniversary of World War I by teaming with historian Greg Dickson and the ever resourceful BC Almanac audience to compile a sweeping portrayal of that crucial chapter of BC history Of the 611 000 Canadians who fought for King and Country 55 570 were from British Columbia the highest per capita rate of enlistment in the country Of that contingent 6 225 died in battle a critical loss to a fledgling province of barely 400 000 Compiling stories artifacts and photos sent in by BC Almanac listeners from across the province this volume tells of submarine smuggling bagpipes lost on the battlefield and of the ongoing struggles by soldiers who made it home It tells of battles that set records for mass death amid conditions of unequalled squalor but also of the heroism of front line nurses and soldiers like George Maclean a First Nations man from the Okanagan who won the Distinguished Conduct Medal By turns devastating harrowing insightful and miraculous these stories reveal much about the spirit and resilience of a people who survived one of history s greatest disasters to build the province we have today Catalogue of Books Perth (W.A.). Public Library,1905 The Oxford History of Western Art Martin Kemp,2000 The Oxford History of Western Art is the new authority on the development of visual culture in the West over the last 2700 years from the classical period to the end of the twentieth century OHWA is an innovative and challenging reappraisal of how the history of art can be presented and understood None of the currently available general histories of art offers the wealth of perspectives and cross media references of this book Through a carefully devised modular structure readersare given insights not only into how and why works of art were created but also how works in different media relate to each other across time Here uniquely is not the simple linear story of art but a rich series of stories told from varying viewpoints The founding principle of the book has been to use carefully selected groupings of pictures to give readers a sense of the visual texture of the various periods and episodes covered The 167 illustration groups supported by explanatory text and picture captions create a sequence of visual tours not merely a procession of individually great works viewed in isolation but juxtapositions of significant images that powerfully convey a sense of the visual environments in which works of art need to be viewed in order to be understood and appreciated. The aim throughout has been to make the shape and nature of these visual presentations a stimulating and rewarding experience allowing readers to become active participants in the process of interpretation and synthesis. Another key feature of the narrative is the redefinition of traditional period boundaries. Rather than relying on conventional labels such as Medieval Renaissance Baroque etc five major phases of significant historical change are established that unlock longer and more meaningful continuities. The art of classical antiquity from c 600 BC to the fall of Rome in AD 410. The establishment of visual culture in Europe from 410 to 1527 the sack of papal Rome. European visual regimes from 1527 to 1770. The era of revolutions 1770 to 1914. Modernism and after 1914 to 2000. This new framework shows how the major religious and secular functions of art have been forged sustained transformed revived and revolutionized over the ages how the institutions of Church and State have consistently aspired to make art in their own image and how the rise of art history itself has come to provide the dominant conceptual framework within which artists create patrons patronize collectors collect galleries exhibit dealers deal and art historians write. The text has been written by a team of 50 specialist authors working under the direction of Professor Martin Kemp one of the UK's most distinguished art historians. Whilst bringing their own expertise and vision to their sections each author was also asked to relate their text to a number of unifying themes and issues including written evidence physical contexts patronage viewing and reception techniques gender and racial issues centres and peripheries media and condition the notion of art and current presentations. Though the coverage of topics focuses on European notions of art and their transplantation and transformation in North America space is also given to cross fertilizations with other traditions including the art of Latin America the Soviet Union India Africa and Afro Caribbean Australia and Canada. Professor Kemp and his team similarly deal generously with the applied arts and reproductive media such as photography and prints. The result is a vibrant vigorous and revolutionary account of Western art serving both as an inspirational introduction for the general reader and an authoritative source of reference and guidance for students.
