The Hall of Three Pines Feng Youlan, 2000-02-01 Feng Youlan 1895 1990 was twentieth century China s leading original philosopher as well as its foremost historian of Chinese philosophy He is best known in the West for his two volume History of Chinese Philosophy which remains the standard general history of the subject He is also known for a series of books in which he developed a philosophical system combining elements of Chinese philosophy particularly Neo Confucianism with Western thinking In his preface to The Hall of Three Pines Feng likens his autobiography to accounts written by authors of ancient times who on completing their major works often wrote a separate piece to recount their origins and experiences giving the overall plan of their work and declaring their aims The Hall of Three Pines begins in the 1890s during the Chinese empire and extends to the 1980s According to Feng No age before was swept up in such a maelstrom of convoluted change The son of a district magistrate Feng left his home in 1910 at the age of fifteen to study in the provincial capital of Kaifeng and later at the China Academy in Shanghai During the warlord and Kuomintang years he graduated from Peking University obtained a Ph D in philosophy under John Dewey at Columbia University and became a professor of philosophy at several of Chin s most prestigious universities Fleeing the Japanese invasion Feng along with many of his university colleagues moved south to Changsha and Kunming After Japan s surrender he returned to teaching in Beijing and there witnessed the chaos of the Kuomintang Communist civil war Feng suffered the fate of many prominent intellectuals during the Cultural Revolution and was rehabilitated after Mao s death His remaining years were spent in Beijing at his long time residence The Hall of Three Pines where he continued to work despite the gradual loss of his eyesight

Feng completed The Hall of Pines shortly before returning to the U S to receive an honorary degree from Columbia in 1982. The book is divided into three parts. The first is entitled Society which Feng describes as a record of his environment. Philosophy concerns Feng's work as an original philosopher and historian of Chinese philosophy and includes extensive excerpts from his own writings and discussions of these by himself and others. The final section Universities is a discussion of education and delves into details of Chinese academic affairs. The Hall of Three Pines is a monumental work of personal and intellectual history spanning nearly nine decades in the life of modern China's one great philosopher.

Rood's Modern Chromatics Ogden N. Rood, 2021-06-28. Outlining the physical and psychological aspects of colour, this classic text explains the principles of colour perception and light and their application in the arts and sciences. Ogden Rood's Modern Chromatics was published primarily as a work of colour theory proposing a complex scientific theory on the nature of colour, primarily focusing on the laws of colour harmony and contrast. Written in accessible language and illustrated profusely throughout, it's a highly practical volume that enhances one's understanding of colour across creative and industrial contexts. Its contents include Transmission and Reflection of Light, Production of Colour by Dispersion, Contrasts of Colour, Abnormal Perception of Colour, and Colour Blindness. Young's Theory of Colour, Complementary Colours, Duration of the Impression on the Retina, Contrast, Proving as influential in the art world as it has been in the scientific history of colour theory. Rood's timeless work provides an invaluable guide for those looking to master the use of colour, whether through an interest in the theories or their practical application.

Quitting Certainties Michael G. Titelbaum, 2012-12-20. Michael G. Titelbaum presents a new Bayesian framework for modeling rational degrees of belief called the Certainty Loss Framework. Subjective Bayesianism is epistemologists' standard theory of how individuals should change their degrees of belief over time. But despite the theory's power, it is widely recognized to fail for situations agents face every day: cases in which agents forget information or in which they assign degrees of belief to self-locating claims. Quitting Certainties argues that these failures stem from a common source: the inability of Conditionalization, Bayesianism's traditional updating rule, to model claims going from certainty at an earlier time to less than certainty later on. It then presents a new Bayesian updating framework that accurately represents rational requirements on agents who undergo certainty loss. Titelbaum develops this new framework from the ground up, assuming little technical background on the part of his reader. He interprets Bayesian theories as formal models of rational requirements, leading him to discuss both the elements that go into a formal model and the general principles that link formal systems to norms. By reinterpreting Bayesian methodology and altering the theory's updating rules, Titelbaum is able to respond to a host of challenges to Bayesianism, both old and new. These responses lead in turn to deeper questions about commitment consistency and the nature of information. Quitting Certainties presents the first systematic, comprehensive Bayesian framework unifying the treatment of memory loss and context sensitivity. It develops this framework, motivates it, compares it to alternatives, then applies it to cases in epistemology, decision theory, the theory of identity, and the philosophy
