The Problem with Pierre Ck Smouha, Suzanna Hubbard, 2020-10 The differences between Bertram and his neighbor Alan were never a problem until a fussy cat entered the equation Harper's New Monthly Magazine, 1901 Harper's Monthly Magazine Henry Mills Alden, Thomas Bucklin Wells, Lee Foster Hartman, 1901 Family History of Hortense Patricia Allarie: ?The Allarie-Dumas Genealogy Jordan Skipper, 2014-05-15 A reference of the Allarie family and the Dumas family in Manitoba The combined history of these two families contributes to the history of the Metis people and Western Canada The Harvard Advocate, 1885 The New International Encyclopaedia Daniel Coit Gilman, Harry Thurston Peck, Frank Moore Colby, 1906 Everybody Ought to Be Rich David Farber, 2013-04-18 Today consumer credit employee stock options and citizen investment in the stock market are taken for granted fundamental facts of American economic life But few people realize that they were first widely promoted by John Jakob Raskob 1879 1950 the innovative financier and self made businessman who built the Empire State building made millions for DuPont and General Motors and helped shape the contours of modern capitalism David Farber's Everybody Ought to Be Rich is the first biography of Raskob a man who shunned the limelight he was the anti Trump of his time but whose impact on free market enterprise can hardly be overstated A colorful figure Raskob's life evokes the roaring twenties the Catholic elite the boardrooms of America's biggest corporations and the rags to riches tale that is central to the American dream Farber follows Raskob's remarkable trajectory from a teenage candy seller on the railway between Lockport and Buffalo to the pinnacles of wealth and power With no formal education but possessed of a boundless energy and an unshakeable faith in individual initiative his motto was Go ahead and do something Raskob partnered with great industrialists and financiers buying up companies leveraging investments reorganizing corporations funneling money into the political system and creating new pools of credit for rich investors and middle class consumers alike practices commonplace today but revolutionary at the time His most famous innovation was mass consumer credit which he offered to individual car buyers enabling working and middle class Americans to purchase GM's more expensive cars Raskob desperately wanted to bridge class divides and to share the wealth American corporations were fast creating so that everyone could be rich Chronicling Raskob's short comings as well as his successes Everybody Ought to Be Rich illuminates a crucial but little known figure in American capitalism whose influence can still be felt today Between Church and State Bernard Guenée, 1991 For the past several decades French historians have emphasized the writing of history in terms of structures cultures and mentalities an approach exemplified by proponents of the Annales school With this volume Bernard Guenée himself associated with the Annalistes marks a decisive break with this dominant mode of French historiography Still recognizing the Annalistes indispensable contribution Guenée turns to the genre of biography as a way to attend more closely to chance to individual events and personalities and to a sense of time as people actually experienced it without sacrificing the conceptual rigor made possible by crisply stated problematiques His engaging and detailed study links in sequence the lives of four French bishops who because of their office were intellectuals and politicians as well. These men rose in the hierarchy that was medieval society by dint of talent and ambition not birth. What Guene reveals is the career patterns and politics of an era that privileged youth yet granted certain advantages to those such as Guene's subjects who survived to old age. He illustrates not only how these and other medieval men of the church were schooled but also how they learned from life illuminating medieval and early modern history through their writings. Jacket
