Novak,2008-08-23 The Projecting Age was a term the English novelist Daniel Defoe used to describe the end of the seventeenth century This term could just as easily be used however to describe the period known as the Long Eighteenth Century 1660-1789 The Age of Projects uses the notion of a project as a key to understanding the massive social cultural political literary and scientific transitions that occurred in Europe during this time The contributors to this collection examine fraudulent grandiose altruistic and idealistic projects that reveal the period's radical breaks from the past and its preoccupation with the future Examining topics as diverse as Jonathan Swift's satire on the possibility of a computer to Gottfried Leibniz's effort to build one and Edmund Burke's prediction that the project of democratic governance would be taken over by greedy adventurers this volume provides significant insight into the period's ambitions for an improved future A well balanced collection by leading scholars from diverse disciplines The Age of Projects is a significant contribution to intellectual history literary history and the history of science Political Economy, Linguistics and Culture Jürgen

Backhaus,2007-12-21 During the late 19th and throughout the 20th century social sciences in general and economics in particular have undergone enormous progress This has led to something of an embarrassment of riches While certain topics have been fully researched to the point where the marginal benefit from further research is approaching zero others have remained largely under researched or were being ignored altogether It is this discrepancy which prompted the research paradigm of Crossing Bridges For this volume ten authors have joined forces to address the problem of under researched topics focussing in particular on gaps in interdisciplinary research between economics and other social sciences such as linguistics art and cultural history Making use of interdisciplinary methods and approaches the book makes a case for stronger bonds between the different fields of social science Landscapes Émile Michel,2023-12-28 Although considered a minor genre for a long time the art of landscape has risen above its forebears religious and historic painting to become a genre of its own Giorgione in Italy the Brueghels of the Flemish School Claude Lorrain and Poussain of the French School the Dutch landscape painters and Turner and Constable of England are just a few of the great landscapists who have left their indelible mark on the history of landscape and the art of painting as a whole After serving for a long time as a backdrop for paintings and as a skill practising exercise for artists nature came to be observed for its own sake and was incorporated into works of art as an illustration of an enlightened and scientific study of the world Through continual change it has inspired the greatest painters and has allowed some others like Turner to transcend the relentless search for mere realism in pictorial representation Through this study mile Michel offers an exceptional panorama from the 15th century to the present of art and the way artists portray the world in all its splendour

The Last Days of Pompeii Victoria C. Gardner Coates, Kenneth D. S. Lapatin, Jon L. Seydl, Cleveland Museum of Art, Musée national des beaux-arts du Québec, 2012 Destroyed yet paradoxically preserved by the eruption of Mount Vesuvius in A D 79 Pompeii and other nearby sites are usually considered places where we can most directly experience the daily lives of ancient Romans Rather than present these sites as windows to the past however the authors of The Last Days of Pompeii Decadence Apocalypse Resurrection explore Pompeii as a modern obsession in which the Vesuvian sites function as mirrors of the present Through cultural appropriation and projection outstanding visual and literary artists of the last three centuries have made the ancient catastrophe their own expressing contemporary concerns in diverse media from paintings prints and sculpture to theatrical performances photography and film This lavishly illustrated volume featuring the works of artists such as Piranesi Fragonard Kaufmann Ingres Chassériau and Alma Tadema as well as Duchamp Dal Rothko Rauschenberg and Warhol surveys the legacy of Pompeii in the modern imagination under the three overarching rubrics of decadence apocalypse and resurrection Decadence investigates the perception of Pompeii as a site of impending and well deserved doom due to the excesses of the ancient Romans such as paganism licentiousness greed gluttony and violence The catastrophic demise of the Vesuvian sites has become inexorably linked with the understanding of antiquity turning Pompeii into a fundamental allegory for Apocalypse to which all subsequent disasters natural or man made are related from the San Francisco earthquake of 1906 to Hiroshima Nagasaki 9 11 and Hurricane Katrina Resurrection examines how Pompeii and the Vesuvian cities have been reincarnated in modern guise through both scientific archaeology and fantasy as each successive cultural reality superimposed its values and ideas on the distant past An exhibition of the same name will be on view at the Getty Villa from September 12 2012 through January 7 2013 at the Cleveland Museum of Art from February 24 through May 19 2013 and at the Musée national des beaux-arts du Québec from June 13 through November 8 2013
