Piers Plowman And The Problem Of Belief:

Piers Plowman and the Problem of Belief Britton J. Harwood, 1992 Piers Plowman is one of the greatest poems of Middle English In this study Britton F Harwood considers it as an expression of a crisis of faith and as such a landmark in the theological and philosophical history of the medieval era Harwood shows how the protagonist of the poem represents himself as one in need of a knowledge of Christ as present and existing This kind of knowledge was elaborated in late thirteenth and fourteenth century thought as notitia intuitiva the poet wants not a report of Christ but Christ as an object of perception Any conversion for him is consequent upon the vision of God The action of the poem then consists in the poet's testing of certain human capacities for their ability to recover the vision of God Following through each segment of the poem Harwood charts the course of the poet's inquiry showing how each vision advances the poet's search until he reaches the knowledge of Christ in remorse suffering being the point where God and humanity meet On this basis Harwood suggests that Piers Plowman is the first Middle English poem to have been motivated by the deterioration in theological and philosophical foundations experienced by the fourteenth century writer as argued by Muscatine and Middleton This is the first book on Piers Plowman to take the narrator seriously when he rejects moral instruction as a substitute for the knowledge of God and to argue that the poem is authentically exploratory BOOK JACKET Title Summary field provided by Blackwell North America Inc All Rights Reserved

Piers Plowman William Langland, 2018-09-07 Piers Plowman By William Langland Written by a fourteenth century cleric this spiritual allegory explores man in relation to his ultimate destiny against the background of teeming colorful medieval life

Piers Plowman and the Reinvention of Church Law Arvind Thomas, 2019-03-07 It is a medieval truism that the poet meddles with words the lawyer with the world But are the poet's words and the lawyer's world really so far apart To what extent does the art of making poems share in the craft of making laws and vice versa Framed by such questions Piers Plowman and the Reinvention of Church Law in the Late Middle Ages examines the mutually productive interaction between literary and legal makyns in England's great Middle English poem by William Langland Focusing on Piers Plowman's preoccupation with wrongdoing in the B and C versions Arvind Thomas examines the versions representations of trials confessions restitutions penalties and pardons Thomas explores how the literary informs and transforms the legal until they finally cannot be separated Thomas shows how the poem's narrative voice metaphor syntax and style not only reflect but also act upon properties of canon law such as penitential procedures and authoritative maxims Langland's mobilization of juridical concepts Thomas insists not only engenders a poetics informed by canonist thought but also expresses an alternative vision of canon law from that proposed by medieval jurists and today's medievalists

Reading Heresy Gregory Erickson, Bernard Schweizer, 2017-11-20

Heresy studies is a new interdisciplinary supra religious and humanist field of study that focuses on borderlands of dogma probes the intersections between orthodoxy and heterodoxy and explores the realms of dissent in religion art and literature Free from confessional agendas and tolerant of both religious and non religious perspectives heresy studies fulfill an important gap in scholarly inquiry and artistic production Divided into four parts the volume explores intersections between heresy and modern literature it discusses intricacies of medieval heresies it analyzes issues of heresy in contemporary theology and it demonstrates how heresy operates as an artistic stimulant Rather than treating matters of heresy blasphemy unbelief dissent and non conformism as subjects to be shunned or naively championed the essays in this collection chart a middle course energized by the dynamics of heterodoxy dissent and provocation yet shining a critical light on both the challenges and the revelations of disruptive kinds of thinking and acting

Encounters with God in Medieval and Early Modern English Poetry Charlotte Clutterbuck, 2017-07-05 Engaging with four English poems or groups of poems the anonymous medieval Crucifixion lyrics William Langland's Piers Plowman John Donne's Divine Poems and John Milton's Paradise Lost this book examines the nature of poetic encounter with God At the same time the author makes original contributions to the discussion of critical dilemmas in the study of each poem or group of poems The main linguistic focus of this book is on the nature of dialogue with God in religious poetry an area much neglected by grammarians and often overlooked in studies of literary style It constitutes an important contribution to our understanding of the relationship between literature and theology

History of Political Ideas Eric Voegelin, 1998 Annotation Examining the emergence of modernity within the philosophical and political debates of the sixteenth century Religion and the Rise of Modernity resumes the analysis of the great confusion introduced in Volume IV of History of Political Ideas Encompassing a vast range of events ignited by Luther's Ninety Five Theses this period is one of controversy revolution and partiality Despite the era's fragmentation and complexity Voegelin's insightful analysis clarifies its significance and suggests the lines of change converging at a point in the future the medieval Christian understanding of a divinely created closed cosmos was being replaced by a distinctly modern form of human consciousness that posits man as the proper origin of meaning in the universe Analyzing the most significant features of the great confusion Voegelin examines a vast range of thought and issues of the age From the more obvious thinkers to those less frequently studied this volume features such figures as Calvin Althusius Hooker Bracciolini Savonarola Copernicus Tycho de Brahe and Giordano Bruno Devoting a considerable amount of attention to Jean Bodin Voegelin presents him as a prophet of a new true religion amid the civilizational disorder of the post Christian era Focusing on such traditional themes as monarchy just war theory and the philosophy of law this volume also investigates issues within astrology cosmology and mathematics Religion and the Rise of Modernity is a valuable work of scholarship not only because of its treatment of individual thinkers and doctrines influential in the sixteenth century and beyond but also because of its close examination of those experiences that formed the modern outlook

The Book and the Magic of Reading in the Middle Ages Albrecht Classen, 1998 The computer revolution is upon us The future of books and of reading are debated Will there be books in the next millennium Will we still be reading As uncertain as the answers to these questions might be as clear is the message about the value of the book expressed by medieval writers The contributors to the volume The Book and the Magic of Reading in the Middle Ages explore the significance of the written document as the key icon of a whole era Both philosophers and artists both poets and clerics wholeheartedly subscribed to the notion that reading and writing represented essential epistemological tools for spiritual political religious and philosophical quests To gain a deeper understanding of the cultural significance of the medieval book the contributors to this volume examine pertinent statements by medieval philosophers and French German English Spanish and Italian poets Medieval Allegory as Epistemology Marco Nievergelt, 2023-03-21 In Medieval Allegory as Epistemology Marco Nievergelt argues that late medieval dream poetry was able to use the tools of allegorical fiction to explore a set of complex philosophical questions regarding the nature of human knowledge The focus is on three of the most widely read and influential poems of the later Middle Ages Jean de Meun's Roman de la Rose the Pelerinages trilogy of Guillaume de Deguileville and William Langland's vision of Piers Plowman in its various versions All three poets grapple with a collection of shared closely related epistemological problems that emerged in Western Europe during the thirteenth century in the wake of the reception of the complete body of Aristotle's works on logic and the natural sciences This study therefore not only examines the intertextual and literary historical relations linking the work of the three poets but takes their shared interest in cognition and epistemology as a starting point to assess their wider cultural and intellectual significance in the context of broader developments in late medieval philosophy of mind knowledge and language Vernacular literature more broadly played an extremely important role in lending an enlarged cultural resonance to philosophical ideas developed by scholastic thinkers but it is also shown that allegorical narrative could prompt philosophical speculation on its own terms deliberately interrogating the dominance and authority of scholastic discourses and institutions by using first person fictional narrative as a tool for intellectual speculation Faith, Ethics, and Church David Aers, 2000 Examination of key texts Chaucer to Wyclif sheds new light on medieval spirituality The relationship between versions of the late medieval Church faith ethics and the lay powers as explored in a range of late fourteenth and early fifteenth century texts written in England is the subject of this book It argues that they disclose strikingly diverse models of Christian discipleship and examines the sources and consequences of such differences Issues investigated include whether the Church could shape modern communities and individual identities and how it could combine its status as a major landlord and trader without being assimilated by the various networks of earthly power and profit The book begins with Chaucer's treatment of received versions of faith ethics and the Church and moves via St Thomas Ockham Nicholas Love Gower the Gawain poet and Langland who pursues the issues with particular intensity and focus to Wyclif's construal of Christian discipleship in relation to his projected reform of the Church Interdisciplinary in approach the book will be of interest to all those studying late medieval Christianity and literature DAVID AERS is James B Duke Professor of English and Professor of Historical Theology at Duke University
