Masking Selves, Making Subjects Taisei Yamamoto, 1999-01-06 This sophisticated and comprehensive study is the first to situate

Japanese American women's writing within theoretical contexts that provide a means of articulating the complex relationships between language and the body, gender and agency, nationalism and identity. Through an examination of post World War II autobiographical writings, fiction and poetry, Taisei Yamamoto argues that these writers have employed the trope of masking textually and psychologically as a strategy to create an alternative discursive practice and to protect the self as subject. Yamamoto's range is broad and her interdisciplinary approach yields richly textured in-depth readings of a number of genres including film and travel narrative. Looking at how the West has sexualized, infantilized and feminized Japanese culture for over a century, she examines contemporary Japanese American women's struggle with this orientalist fantasy. Analyzing the various constraints and possibilities that these writers negotiate in order to articulate their differences, she shows how masking serves as a self-affirming discourse that dynamically interacts with mainstream culture's racial and sexual projections.

Encyclopedia of Prostitution and Sex Work Melissa Hope Ditmore, 2006-08-30 The cliché is that prostitution is the oldest profession. Isn't it time that the subject received a full reference treatment? This major 2-volume set is the first to treat in an inclusive reference what is usually considered a societal failing and the underside of sexuality and economic survival. The A to Z encyclopedia offers wide-ranging entries related to prostitution and the sex industry, past and present, both worldwide, mostly in the West and in the United States. The topic of prostitution has high interest appeal across disciplines and the narrative entries illuminate literature, art, law, medicine, economics, politics, women's studies, religion, sociology, sexuality, film, popular culture, public health, nonfiction, American and world history, business, gender, media, education, crime, race, technology, performing arts, family, social work, social mores, pornography, the military, tourism, child labor, and more. It is targeted to the general reader who will gain useful insight into the human race through time via its sex industry and prostitution. An introduction overviews the scope of prostitution from the earliest historical records, including the Bible. User-friendly lists that are alphabetically and topically arranged help the reader find entries of interest, as does the comprehensive index. A chronology proffers significant dates related to the topic. Each entry is signed and has suggestions for further reading. Sample entries: Abolition, Actresses, Augustine, Saint-Barr, Candy, Bible, Camp Followers, Chamberlain, Kahn, Bill of 1918, Child Prostitution, Clothing, Contagious Diseases, Acts of 1864, 1866, and 1869, Crime, Debby, Doesn't Do It for Free, Dickens, Charles, Devadasi, Entrapment, Fallen Woman, Trope, Feminism, Films, Cult, Five Points, Free Love, Geisha, Globalization, Guidebooks, Hip Hop, HIV/AIDS and the Prostitution Rights Movement, Human Rights, Incest, Internet, Jack the Ripper, Kama Sutra, League of Nations, Lulu, Male Stripping, Mann Act, Mayhew, Henry, Memoirs, Migration and Mobility, Nazi Germany, Poetry, Purity Movements, R, Religion, Salvation Army, Scapegoating, Slang, Storyville, Temporary Marriage, Unions, Venice, Window Prostitution.

The Emerging Monoculture Eric Kramer, 2003-02-28 Kramer brings together experts from a variety of minority backgrounds and from around the world to give their perspectives on the most pervasive ideology today globalism The basic premise is that a developed country is different from a developed community They need not be mutually exclusive but neither is it assumed that they are necessarily consonant The various essays offer answers to such vital questions as What does it mean to become a global citizen and What does it mean to be a model minority in a global economy The process of becoming a mainstream person involves being first marginalized with the implication that something is inadequate about one's self The process of assimilationism is manifested as various forms of enforced and or rewarded acculturation With the vast human migration currently underway the notion of assimilation has become a global phenomenon What is occurring Kramer and his colleagues demonstrate is a worldwide shift from the village milieu to the city lifestyle This migration is seen as a polycentric and global phenomenon whereby the promised land is nowhere in particular but instead a way of life and mindset an urban lifestyle This process is far more than a simple change in geography Moving from the village to the cityscape involves a mutation in worldview and self identity Additional questions asked throughout the collection are What set of persuasive assumptions are leading the world in this direction and What might be lost in the process A provocative collection for scholars students and other researchers involved with development studies multiculturalism and urbanization
