Judaism, Sufism, and the Pietists of Medieval Egypt Elisha Russ-Fishbane, 2015 Judaism Sufism and the Pietists of Medieval Egypt addresses the extraordinary rise and inner life of the Egyptian pietist movement in the first half of the thirteenth century The creative engagement with the dominant Islamic culture was always present even when unspoken Elisha Russ Fishbane calls attention to the Sufi subtext of Jewish pietism while striving not to reduce its spiritual synthesis and religious renewal to a set of political calculations Ultimately no single term or concept can fully address the creative expression of pietism that so animated Jewish society and that left its mark in numerous manuscripts and fragments from medieval Egypt Russ Fishbane offers a nuanced examination of the pietist sources on their own terms drawing as far as possible upon their own definitions and perceptions Jewish society in thirteenth century Egypt reflects the dynamic reexamination by a venerable community of its foundational texts and traditions even of its very identity and institutions viewed and reviewed in the full light of its Islamic environment The historical legacy of this religious synthesis belongs at once to the realm of Jewish culture in all its diversity and dynamism as well as to the broader spiritual orbit of Islamate civilization

The Oudh Nights A. P. Bhatnagar, 2005 This book is for those readers who want to know the truth about Oudh and the past of Nawabi Lucknow In the eyes of East India Company the Nawab Wazirs Kings and Begums of Lucknow were much maligned persons in the history of Oudh Of all the persons the last deposed King Wajid Ali Shah was charged with infamy Not many Indians are aware that interested parties to dethrone him spread canards judiciously Few of the younger generation of India care to remember the heroic effort of Begum Hazrat Mahal who led from the front and fought to liberate the country from the British She refused to accept not once but many times offers of security and due privileges from the East India Company She wanted to live with independence dignity and honor and not on crumbsthrown by a foreign power She died unsung in Kathmandu Nepal Her equally brave sonBirjis Qadr spent his precious childhood and youth in fighting against the British and thendied under mysterious circumstances when he returned to Calcutta Some new found factsabout Birjis Qadr and his descendants are included Some special photos feature in thebook Studies in Arabian Fatalism Helmer Ringgren,1955 Visions of the End Bernard McGinn,1998 From millenarists to Antichrist hunters from the Sibyls to the Hussites Visions of the End is a monumental compendium spanning the literature of the Christian apocalyptic tradition from the period A D 400 to 1500 masterfully selected and complete with a comprehensive introduction and new preface The Apocalypse of Empire Stephen J. Shoemaker,2018-11-09 In The Apocalypse of Empire Stephen J Shoemaker argues that earliest Islam was a movement driven by urgent eschatological belief that focused on the conquest or liberation of the biblical Holy Land and situates this belief within a broader cultural environment of apocalyptic anticipation Shoemaker looks to the Qur an s fervent representation of the imminent end of the world and the importance Muhammad and his earliest followers placed on imperial expansion Offering important contemporary context for the imperial eschatology that seems to have fueled the rise of Islam he surveys the political eschatologies of early Byzantine Christianity Judaism and Sasanian Zoroastrianism at the advent of Islam and argues that they often relate imperial ambition to beliefs about the end of the world Moreover he contends formative Islam s embrace of this broader religious trend of Mediterranean late antiquity provides invaluable evidence for understanding the beginnings of the religion at a time when sources are generally scarce and often highly problematic Scholarship on apocalyptic literature in early Judaism and Christianity frequently maintains that the genre is decidedly anti imperial in its very nature While it may be that early Jewish apocalyptic literature frequently displays this tendency Shoemaker demonstrates that this quality is not characteristic of apocalypticism at all times and in all places In the late antique Mediterranean as in the European Middle Ages apocalypticism was regularly associated with ideas of imperial expansion and triumph which expected the culmination of history to arrive through the universal dominion of a divinely chosen world empire This imperial apocalypticism not only affords an invaluable backdrop for understanding the rise of Islam but also reveals an important transition within the history of Western doctrine during late antiquity The Millennial Sovereign A. Azfar Moin,2012-10-16 At the end of the sixteenth century and the turn of the first Islamic millennium the powerful Mughal emperor Akbar declared himself the most sacred being on earth The holiest of all saints and above the distinctions of religion he styled himself as the messiah reborn Yet the Mughal emperor was not alone in doing so In this field changing study A Azfar Moin explores why Muslim sovereigns in this period began to imitate the exalted nature of Sufi saints Uncovering a startling yet widespread phenomenon he shows how the charismatic pull of sainthood wilayat rather than the draw of religious law sharia or holy war jihad inspired a new style of sovereignty in Islam A work of history richly informed by the anthropology of religion and art The Millennial Sovereign traces how royal dynastic cults and shrine centered Sufism came together in the imperial cultures of Timurid Central Asia Safavid Iran and Mughal India By juxtaposing imperial chronicles paintings and architecture with theories of sainthood apocalyptic treatises and manuals on astrology and magic Moin uncovers a pattern of Islamic politics shaped by Sufi and millennial motifs He shows how alchemical symbols and astrological rituals enveloped the body of the monarch casting him as both spiritual guide and material lord Ultimately Moin offers a striking new perspective on the history of Islam and the religious and political developments linking South Asia and Iran in early modern times

The Rhetoric of the Roman Fake Irene Peirano,2012-08-16 Previous scholarship on classical pseudepigrapha has generally aimed at proving issues of attribution and dating of individual works with little or no attention paid to the texts as literary artefacts Instead this book looks at Latin fakes as sophisticated products of a literary culture in which collaborative practices of supplementation recasting and role play were the absolute cornerstones of rhetorical education and literary practice Texts such as the Catalepton the Consolatio ad Liviam and the Panegyricus Messallae thus illuminate the strategies whereby Imperial audiences received and interrogated canonical texts and are here explored as key moments in the Imperial reception of Augustan authors such as Virgil Ovid and Tibullus The study of the rhetoric of these creative supplements irreverently mingling truth and fiction reveals much not only about the neighbouring concepts of fiction authenticity and reality but also about the tacit assumptions by which the latter are employed in literary criticism

The Author and His Doubles Abdelfattah Kilito,2001-11-01 Michael Cooperson's translation makes Abdelfattah Kilito's masterpiece available to English speaking audiences for the first time Called the most inventive and provocative critic of Arabic literature writing in the Middle East today Kilito opens our perception with the same breadth of vision seeking to define the traditional and historical forces that bind one writer to another and that inextricably link an author to a text This volume benefits from Cooperson's accomplished translation While rigorously precise it also allows the wit and humor and the lyricism of Kilito's prose full expression Drawing on major themes of classical Arabic literature the essays use simple poetic language to argue that genre not authorship is the single most important feature of classical works Kilito discusses love poetry and panegyric the Prophet's Hadith and the literary anecdote as well as offering novel readings of recurrent themes such as memorization plagiarism forgery and dream visions of the dead

A Fatal Friendship Rosie Llewellyn-Jones,1985 The city of Lucknow once described as the last example of the old pomp and refinement of Hindustan still remains one of the most interesting cities of north India This lively urban history presents a panorama of the political cultural and architectural life of Lucknow during its heyday from the ascendancy of the first nawab in the early 18th century to the deposition of the last nawab in 1856

Focusing on the architecture itself and the particular psychologies that lay behind the building facades the author draws some intriguing conclusions about nawabi Lucknow and the colonial mind in its relation to Indian urban life Our Betters
William Somerset Maugham, 1923 A satire of rich Americans who buy their way into European society
