sexual liberation movements was that capitalism's investment in the norms of the heterosexual family meant that any challenge to them was invariably anti-capitalist. In recent years however lesbian and gay subcultures have become increasingly mainstream and commercialized as seen for example in corporate backing for pride events while the initial radicalism of sexual liberation has given way to relatively conservative goals over marriage and adoption rights. Meanwhile queer theory has critiqued this homonormativity or assimilation as if some act of betrayal had occurred. In Sex Needs and Queer Culture David Alderson seeks to account for these shifts in both queer movements and the wider society and argues powerfully for a distinctive theoretical framework. Through a critical reassessment of the work of Herbert Marcuse as well as the cultural theorists Raymond Williams and Alan Sinfield Alderson asks whether capitalism is progressive for queers, evaluates the distinctive radicalism of the counterculture as it has mutated into queer and distinguishes between avant-garde protest and subcultural development. In doing so the book offers new directions for thinking about sexuality and its relations to the broader project of human liberation.

Women and Film E. Ann Kaplan, 1988 Analyzes the treatment of women in American movies and examines the themes of a variety of contemporary movies made by women

Icons of War and Terror John Tulloch, Richard Warwick Blood, 2012 This book explores the ideas of key thinkers and media practitioners who have examined images and icons of war and terror. Icons of War and Terror explores theories of iconic images of war and terror not as received pieties but as challenging uncertainties. In doing so it engages with both critical discourse and conventional image making. The authors draw on these theories to re-investigate the media global context of some of the most iconic representations of war and terror in the international risk society. Among these photojournalistic images are Nick Ut's Pulitzer Prize winning photograph of a naked girl Kim Phuc running, burned from a napalm attack in Vietnam in June 1972, a quintessential ethnic cleansing image of massacred Kosovar Albanian villagers at Racak on January 15 1999 which finally propelled a hesitant Western alliance into the first of the new humanitarian wars, Luis Simco's photograph of marine James Blake Miller the Marlboro Man at Fallujah Iraq 2004, the iconic toppling of the World Trade Centre towers in New York by planes on September 11 2001 and the Falling Man icon, one of the most controversial images of 9/11, the image of one of the authors of this book as close-up victim of the 7/7 terrorist attack on London which the media quickly labelled iconic. This book will be of great interest to students of media and war, sociology, communications studies, cultural studies, terrorism studies and security studies in general.
