Pieces Of Purgatory Mental Retardation In And Out Of Institutions:

Pieces of Purgatory J. David Smith, 1995 This book tells the life story of John Lovelace a 62 year old mentally retarded man Tracing his life in and out of institutions it chronicles the struggle of a socially imperfect person to find ways to become connected to the society which has been reluctant to grant him the right of participation By telling the personal story of this one real person the author hopes to inspire readers in training to work in settings where they will encounter children and adults with mental retardation As they develop a deeper understanding of what it is like to go through life as a mentally retarded person readers will feel an enhanced sensitivity and compassion that will help them in their day to day dealings with disabled people and will increase their commitment to developing humane compassionate systems and policies

Challenges to the Human Rights of People with Intellectual Disabilities Frances Owen, Dorothy Griffiths, 2008-12-15 This book provides a multidisciplinary examination of human rights and the lives of people with intellectual disabilities It combines historical psychological philosophical social educational medical and legal perspectives to form a unique and insightful account of the subject

Frances Becomes a Person Ruth Webb, 2005 Frances Becomes a Person recounts the eventful life of author Ruth C Webb s beloved housekeeper Frances Elizabeth Lohr Virtually an outcast Frances journey begins at the age of thirteen The journey on which she continues throughout most of her life will lead her toward the goal of finding a home and a purpose Many events make mildly retarded Frances feel alone unwanted and unloved After the devastating death of her father Frances moves from her family s home to a neighbor s farm Here Frances encounters a farmhand who rapes her As a result Frances becomes pregnant and eventually marries the farmhand When worsening seizures force Frances to be moved to a county home she finds a new purpose as a kitchen assistant Just when she is comfortable in her new life circumstances force Frances to move again this time to a state hospital school After twenty two years of the same routine at the state home Frances is presented with a new opportunity Dr Ruth Webb a new psychologist in town needs a housekeeper and Frances is the top candidate With Dr Webb she finally finds a loving home where she continues to learn grow and contribute to others until her death at age seventy five

Ignored, Shunned, and Invisible J. David Smith, 2008-12-30 Historically segregation and social isolation have been recurring responses to people considered defective or deficient in some way And it is in the midst of such a society that special educator J David Smith wrote this book which presents critical historical and contemporary issues in mental retardation Told through gripping vignettes and interwoven with the story of the life of John Lovelace a man labeled mentally retarded as a child then institutionalized and sterilized this gripping text will make all readers reconsider not only our social policies and practices but also our personal actions in relation to people with mental retardation Topics covered here include an examination of ways people have been misidentified as having disabilities then needlessly warehoused in institutions Coupled with the tragic story of John Lovelace this book is one that will be long remembered by its readers and will ideally spur them to action This book offers new directions for the field of mental retardation including conceptual and terminology changes regarding intellectual disabilities and new thinking about the people whose lives have been altered by the term and the concept Insights from parents friends teachers and varied special education experts are included as is the strong view of author Smith who befriended Lovelace He was often ignored regularly avoided and treated as less than a person as invisible explains Smith And Lovelace is the metaphorical island to which each chapter here returns a vivid example of the denial of freedom and dignity to people who bear an intellectually inferior label In the end we see how society can promote values that inspire and challenge us to create humane and just treatment for all or we can just look the other way when facing disturbing human needs Mental Retardation Mary Bierne-Smith, Richard Ittenbach, James R. Patton, 1998 Provides educators with information about the many facets of mental retardation from a life cycle perspective This introductory text focuses on the basic concepts about mental retardation the characteristics of individuals who have different levels of retardation programming and issues across the lifespan of individuals who are retarded Teaching Students with Mental Retardation Michael L.

Wehmeyer, Deanna J. Sands, H. Earle Knowlton, Elizabeth B. Kozleski, 2002 Read and profit You cannot do the former without achieving the latter On the Margins of Citizenship Allison C. Carey, 2010-05-28 A sociological history of the fight for civil rights for people with intellectual disabilities Allison Carey develops a relational practice approach to the issues of intellectual disability civil rights looking at how advocacy has progressed over the course of the past century Disability Studies and the Inclusive Classroom Susan Baglieri, 2022-12-22 Disability Studies and the Inclusive Classroom integrates knowledge and practice from the fields of disability studies and special education to provide readers with a comprehensive understanding of inclusive education Now in its third edition this critical volume has been revised and updated to include expanded discussion of disability models and contemporary perspectives on disability Each chapter features a dilemma to capture the complexities of the field of educational practice to inspire critical thinking and contemplation of inclusive education Disability Servitude Ruthie-Marie Beckwith, 2016-04-08 Disability Servitude traces the history and legacy of institutional peonage For over a century public and private institutions across the country relied on the unpaid forced labor of their residents and patients in order to operate This book describes the work they performed in some cases for ten or more hours a day seven days a week and the lawsuits they brought in an effort to get paid The impact of those lawsuits included accelerated de institutionalization but they fell short of obtaining equal and fair compensation for their plaintiffs Instead thousands of resident and patient workers were replaced by non disabled employees Disability Servitude includes a detailed history of longstanding problems with the oversight of the sub minimum wage provision in the Fair Labor Standards Act oversight Beckwith shows how that history has resulted in the continued segregation and exploitation of over 400 000 workers with disabilities in sheltered workshops that legally pay far less than minimum wage Mental Retardation Mary

Beirne-Smith, James R. Patton, Shannon H. Kim, 2006 This book provides educators with the most current information about the many facets of mental retardation and intellectual disabilities from a life cycle perspective The authors also show relationships between theory and practice decode the terminology used in the field and relate these terms and concepts to the reality of the classroom the world of work and the life of the community Mental Retardation Lynda Crane,2001

Using the goal of community integration as a coherent unifying conceptual focus this book presents the applied research and information that readers can use as they work with the mentally retarded Additionally this is a book with heart built on the premise that the coverage is not designed simply to appeal to readers intellect but to their emotional and relational experience as well Planning For Life Liam Concannon,2005-08-15 This book traces the development of services for people with disabilities and discusses how much things have really changed for today s service users since the days of asylums It also assesses whether the policy of involvement such as that outlined in Valuing People is achievable in practice or simply places unrealistic burdens on professionals and service users Based on findings from original research and interviews the author argues that involving people with learning disabilities in service planning is difficult to achieve successfully and is currently to a large extent tokenistic This area of challenging practice and emotive debate is brought to life by the voices of service providers carers and the service users themselves and illustrates the realities of working with people with learning disabilities Planning for Life is valuable and informative for students of social work social care and social policy and will be enlightening reading for those working with adults with learning disabilities in policy and in practice Problematising Service-Learning Trae Stewart,Nicole Webster,2010-12-01 Interest in and research on civic engagement and service learning have increased exponentially In this rapid growth efforts have been made to institutionalize pedagogies of engagement across both K 12 and higher education As a result increased positive attention has been complemented equally by well founded critiques complicating experiential approaches claims and questioning if institutional financial and philosophical commitment is warranted A key complaint from these critical voices is the tightly woven protective insular core in the field of service learning This claim is not unfounded nor necessarily bad Initial efforts to legitimize service learning and other forms of community based education required group cohesion The concern however is that the initial group cohesion has led to groupthink wherein group members have avoided critical analysis and evaluation This book aims to prevent groupthink within the field of service learning by allowing for the examination of effective alternatives by new voices who can serve as critical evaluators from within the field itself Myriad perspectives are offered including empirical theoretical practical and community perspectives Authors challenge preconceived notions of service learning who is benefited by this pedagogy outcomes of participation and implementation and most importantly the theoretical conceptual and methodological lenses through which service learning is even considered The book allows servicelearning s major criticisms to be examined challenges to be voiced and research agendas to be laid This book parallels service learning s presence and popularity across various disciplines fields Chapters are written from broad perspectives and are aimed to inform service learning researchers and educators community organizations and policy makers who consider service learning as a means to address civic responsibility Authors expose theoretical and philosophical concerns circulating in the field and often still occupying spaces on the fringe of discourse action and research The book raises fundamental questions for undergraduate and graduate courses with social justice themes by considering the implications that pedagogies of engagement have on learners and communities

Everybody Belongs Arthur Shapiro, 2003-09-01 The evil prosthesis of Captain Hook the comical speech of Porky Pig and the bumbling antics of Mr Magoo are all examples of images in our culture which can become the basis of negative attitudes and subliminal prejudice towards persons with disabilities These attitudes influence and underlie discriminatory acts resulting in negative treatment and segregation A teacher's ability to recognize and counter such images may well determine the success of inclusion and mainstreaming programs in our schools and society Well researched and well written this book offers practical guidance as grounded in solid research to schools that are wrestling with how to mainstream children with disabilities

Putting Health into Place Robin A. Kearns, Wilbert M. Gesler, 1998-06-01 Putting Health into Place draws together original works that collectively argue for a reinvention of medical geography There is a growing interest worldwide in relationships between human health and the experience of place an interest driven both by developments in sociocultural theory and observed health concerns This book is a resource for those wishing to explore or to teach beyond the frontiers of conventional medical geography As the first word of the book's title suggests this is an active volume one that contributes to situating health in the simultaneously tangible negotiated and experienced realities of place Robin A Kearns and Wilbert M Gesler argue that medical issues are a necessary but insufficient focus in developing geographies of health and healing This contention is supported by the authors of the thirteen substantive chapters who convey research findings from the Americas Britain and the Pacific This book represents a collective commitment to exploring links between social and cultural theory ideas about place and discourses on health that will be of interest to readers across the social and health sciences
