Early Travels in Palestine Thomas Wright, 1848      The Crossway Guy Stagg, 2018-06-12 The Crossway is an account of Guy Stagg's ten month walk to Jerusalem. The author sets off from Canterbury on New Year's Day telling his friends and family only that he will be home before the year's end. He follows medieval pilgrimage routes through Western Europe, the Balkans and the Middle East covering more than five and a half thousand kilometres. He crosses the Alps in the depths of winter, spends Easter in Rome with the new Pope, witnesses the summer protests in Istanbul's Taksim Square and survives the August 2013 bombings in Tripoli. Each night he stays with monks, nuns, priests and families, gaining a rare insight into the lives of contemporary believers. Partly conceived as an attempt to rebuild himself after several years of mental illness, the pilgrimage forces Stagg to test the strength of his recovery. It also leaves him wondering what power might ritual have today for someone without faith. The Crossway is full of head and heart, expanding wonders, the perfectly observed sights of a changing landscape, the fascinating reclamation of marginal history, the thrill and shock of perilous adventure and the encounters with fellow pilgrims that leave Stagg amused, bemused and at times moved. This is a beautiful, inspiring book that will show readers the world afresh and leave their hopes renewed.

Pilgrimage to Jerusalem and the Holy Land, 1187-1291 Denys Pringle, 2016-04-08 This book presents new translations of a selection of Latin and French pilgrimage texts and two in Greek relating to Jerusalem and the Holy Land between the fall of Jerusalem to Saladin in 1187 and the loss of Acre to the Mamluks in 1291. It therefore complements and extends existing studies which deal with the period from Late Antiquity to Saladin's conquest. Such texts provide a wealth of information not only about the business of pilgrimage itself but also on church history, topography, architecture and the social and economic conditions prevailing in Palestine in this period. Pilgrimage texts of the 13th century have not previously been studied as a group in this way and because the existing editions of them are scattered across a variety of rather obscure publications, they tend to be underutilized by historians despite their considerable interest. For instance, they are often more original than the texts of the 12th century representing first-hand accounts of travellers rather than simple reworkings of older texts. Taken together, they document the changes that occurred in the pattern of pilgrimage after the fall of Jerusalem in 1187 during its brief reoccupation by the Franks between 1229 and 1244 and during the period from 1260 onwards when the Mamluks gradually took military control of the whole country. In the 1250s/60s, for example, because of the difficulties faced by pilgrims in reaching Jerusalem itself, there developed an alternative set of holy sites offering indulgences in Acre. The bringing of Transjordan, southern Palestine and Sinai under Ayyubid and later Mamluk control also encouraged the development of the pilgrimage to St Catherine's monastery on Mount Sinai in this period. The translations are accompanied by explanatory footnotes and preceded by an introduction which discusses the development of Holy Land pilgrimage in this period and the context, dating and composition of the texts themselves. The book concludes with a comprehensive list of sources and a detailed index.
